FOLLOWING an indictment returned by the April Grand Jury here and pleas of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity, Keaton was committed to the Lima State Hospital for an observation period. Results of the stay at Lima ruled him to be "legally sane."

Emmanuel Nadlin, Keaton's attorney, was not satisfied with the report of Lima psychiatrists. He requested a court hearing to determine the present sanity of the accused and to cross-examine the institutional report.

Dr. Theodore Reshetly, staff physician and psychiatrist at the Lima Hospital, spent about three hours on the witness stand yesterday. He answered questions drilled at him by Nadlin who attempted to prove the testing and examinations given Keaton were not adequate.

To be declared "legally insane," the doctor pointed out, a person must not be able to abjure from wrong. Dr. Reshetly admitted that Keaton had mental disorders and was "a sick man," but held to his ruling that he was not insane.

The Lima doctor occupied the witness box throughout the morning session and was returned later in the afternoon following the testimony of three other Dayton area people.

Mariner Poised For Mars Pix

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Spacecraft Mariner 4 has responded to its first earth command in five months, indicating it is ready to begin later today making an historic series of close-up photos of Mars.

At 7:28 a. m. PDT scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory sent a signal across 134 million miles of space ordering warm-up of Mariner's instruments. Twenty-four minutes later an answer flashed back, signaling that Mariner was obeying.

At 5:20 p. m., if all goes well, the 575-pound craft will start making up to 21 photographs as it flies within 6,000 miles of the Martian surface. Thursday it is supposed to send the photos back to earth — perhaps shedding light on the ancient question of whether the mystery planet has life.

The warmup signal was sent with Mariner only 107,000 miles from Mars and traveling 9,970 miles per hour with relation to the planet. Its speed will increase to 11,000 m.p.h. by the time it flies by.

The earth command, first since last Feb. 12, was transmitted from a tracking station at Johannesburg, South Africa. It started a light-sensitive scanner looking for the bright disk of Mars.

And it started Mariner's camera making warmup clicks, although it will not actually take pictures until the scheduled time.

Since February, the spacecraft's activities have been controlled by an on-board timer.

The activity today climaxed a 228-day, 325-million-mile flight. If everything works scientists expect to release Thursday night or Friday history's first closeup of the one other planet in the solar system believed likely to harbor some form of life.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Elks Grand Lodge, for the fifth straight year, has awarded top national honors to the Ohio Elks Newsette, official monthly publication of the Ohio Elks Association.

Actually, it was the eighth first prize for the Ohio paper, three other top prizes along with two honorable mentions having been garnered prior to the current victory string.

The publication, edited by Gunner Musselman of Circleville, won first prize at the Elks national convention here Tuesday for its editorial content and typography. The award was accepted by C. Ross Cline of Chillicothe, president of the Ohio Elks Association, according to Sam Fitzsimmons of Van Wert, secretary-treasurer of the state body.

Whether or not Mariner 4 finds evidence of life, its success would bring the United States tremendous prestige for the greatest technical achievement yet in deep space: transmission of photographs across 134 million miles.

The Soviet Union's attempt to duplicate the feat failed last April when the Mars-bound Zond 2 — launched two days after Mariner 4 shot aloft Nov. 28 — stopped sending back signals.

$4.6 Billion Savings Cited By Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara claimed today his cost reduction program saved $4.6 billion in the last fiscal year — more than double the $2.1 billion saving he forecast a year ago.

McNamara said the program is going so well that savings of $6.1 billion a year by fiscal 1969 and each year after that "have been set as our new long range goal."

The program is in its fourth year.

McNamara stressed that "these savings are being accomplished without any adverse effect on our military strength and combat readiness."

His third annual progress report on his cost reduction program was prepared for a news conference.

McNamara said the program has three parts: "Buying only what we need to achieve balanced readiness," "buying at the lowest sound price" and "reducing operating costs through termination of unnecessary options, standardization and consolidation."

Among other things, McNamara said that his controversial base-closing program realized $483 million in savings in the 1965 fiscal year.

Tunes You Whistle May Reveal Mood

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The simple act of whistling, says Dr. James Jordan of Emory University, has many psychological implications.

"Whistling 'Dixie' is an organized, orderly activity, consciously directed," he says. "And when someone whistles 'I Feel Like a Motherless Child' or 'Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen,' it's a pretty good sign that he's down and out."

Hope Revived For Improving Ties to Soviet

Russia Is Willing To Resume Talks On Disarmament

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in many months President Johnson has some slight hope of improving U.S.-Soviet relations despite the bitter differences between the two powers over the war in Viet Nam.

The break in a long diplomatic stalemate came late Monday when the Soviet Embassy here notified the U.S. Disarmament Agency — to the complete surprise of administration officials — that the Soviet government agreed to resume disarmament talks at Geneva.

Exactly the opposite Soviet response, if there was any response at all, had been expected. U.S. officials believe that the Soviet government did not wish at this time of rivalry with Red China and dispute with the United States over the crisis in Southeast Asia to get into any position of appearing to cooperate with the United States.

Up to a few days ago the whole line of Kremlin foreign policy toward the United States had been antagonistic. Washington's feeling was that the Russians were not looking for really serious trouble with the United States but neither could they tolerate any real improvement in relations.

The dominant attitude within the administration here is still one of deep skepticism about progress on the great disarmament issues, but at least the way has been opened for their discussion.

The date of the disarmament talks has not yet been finally determined. U.S. disarmament policy chief William C. Foster has suggested July 27 and the agreement of the Soviet Union and other members of the 17-nation conference is expected on that or some date close to it.

U.S. officials intend to make proposals primarily for agreements to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Famed Cannes Now Mainly Sans Stain

CANNES, France (AP)—The sands of Cannes were mainly without stain today after toiling sailors of the U.S. 6th Fleet removed most of the gummy black fuel oil that had defiled the sparkling beach.

The bikini set reclined in the sun once again and hotel owners breathed a sigh of relief only 48 hours after the U.S. aircraft carrier Shangri-la accidentally dumped 3,000 gallons of oil into the limpid blue waters of the Mediterranean.

A howl of protest had gone up in this famed French Riviera sun pot as wind and tide carried the thick ooze to the beaches, turning the sand and the water slimy black. Owners of beach establishments began totting up damage claims to present to the 6th Fleet.

Bombarded with complaints, Cannes Mayor Bernard Cornut-Gentille sent a police launch to the carrier to protest.

Officers on the Shangri-la apologized, explaining that the oil had been dumped near shore by error.

Swinging into action, the Navy sent a task force of 100 sailors ashore with shovels and trucks to haul away the greasy mess. Helicopters and small boats spread chemicals on the water to take the floating oil to the bottom.

The waters off Cannes were limpid blue again today and the sands were almost back to their original hue.

Diego, Arizona and Eastern Railway trained derailed north of Jacumba, in eastern San Diego County near the Mexican border. Two truck vans loaded with beer tumbled off a flatcar into 1,000-foot-deep Carriso Gorge.

The railroad figured the beer — 72,000 cans — was a complete loss.

Adventurous San Diego County youths figured otherwise. They heard about the beer, and headed for Carriso Gorge.

"It must be one of the most inaccessible places in the state," said a railroad official. "The only way to get there is over the railroad right-of-way, four miles in, four miles out, through two tunnels. It's all private property, of course, and there's a sheriff's deputy watching it like a hawk."

Sheriff's officer Alfred Dart has pounced, hawk-like, on 24 people. Dart seized all the beer they had risked their lives to recover. Four were prosecuted for trespassing, the other released.

Despite Dart and diesels, nearly all the beer has disappeared.

But railroaders say the big joke of Jacumba is in the beer drinking.

One railroad official explained: "The beer was in refrigerated vans. Once it gets warm it tastes terrible, even if you re-refrigerate it. There wasn't a beer in that gorge worth walking across the street for."

New Hearing Denied Dr. Sam

Life Sentence Ordered Resumed

CINCINNATI (AP)—The U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals denied today a rehearing for Dr. Samuel Sheppard in the case in which it had ordered him returned to Ohio Penitentiary to resume a life sentence for murder.

Dr. Sheppard, a Cleveland osteopath, had served about 10 years of his sentence when a federal district judge ordered him released last July 16 on grounds he had not received a fair trial.

The appellate court reverse that ruling May 5, holding by a 2-1 vote that Sheppard should be sent back to prison.

Sheppard has been free since then, however, pending a decision on the motion for a rehearing. The court of appeals clerk's office said he now has five days in which to ask for another stay to prevent his return to prison. Such a stay would be asked if the case is carried to the U. S. Supreme Court, as his attorney has vowed.

Sheppard would be eligible for parole 90 days after any return to prison. He now is free on $10,000 bond and listed at the penitentiary as "absent with leave."

Judges Clifford O'Sullivan and Harry Phillips, who wrote the majority opinion in the original appellate decision, voted to deny rehearing and Judge George Edwards, who dissented originally, again opposed the majority.

The Court of Appeals also denied a defense motion for the full court of six judges to consider the request for a rehearing.

In its brief opinion today, the court said its original majority holding "was bottomed upon the conclusion that the petitioner had failed to meet his burden of proving 'not as a matter of speculation, but as a demonstrable reality' that upon his trial he was deprived of federally grant."

Deputies said the fight started over an umpire's decision during the game between teams from the Lutheran Inner Mission and Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

14-Day Ferris Wheel Ride Record Claimed

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Jim Bakich, 19, a San Jose City College freshman, today claimed a world record on the ferris wheel — 14 days of continual revolution.

The student slept, ate, listened to a radio and talked on a phone while aboard the ferris wheel gondola, located in a San Jose amusement park. He staggered slightly as he landed Tuesday, but said he was feeling fine.

Hoover echoed the opinion of his superior, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, in emphasizing that racial and student demonstrations that went on throughout the year were neither instigated nor controlled by Communists.

However, he said: "Communists used the opportunities presented to infiltrate many of the demonstrations and exploit them to their benefit in line with their own objectives."

A total of 26 units will participate in the two-mile-long parade tonight, with prizes and trophies awarded those judged the best.

Senate Approval Seen For Johnson Appointees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Party leaders predicted today the Senate will approve two of President Johnson's top nominees — Judge Thurgood Marshall to be solicitor general and Leonard H. Marks to direct the U.S. Information Agency.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in separate interviews they see no reason both the appointees should not be confirmed with reasonable speed.

However, Johnson's selection of Marshall, a Negro circuit judge, to succeed Archibald Cox as solicitor general, aroused some Southern opposition.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., said he believed the choice of the former general counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People as the government's chief trial lawyer was unwise.

"To make him the special pleader for the whole of the government certainly opens the matter up to controversy," Holland said.

Following announcement of Marshall's nomination, Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N. Y., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., applauded his record on the Circuit Court of Appeals to which he was appointed by President John F. Kennedy on Sept. 23, 1961. Marshall served under a recess appointment and was not confirmed until Sept. 11, 1962. At that time 16 Southern Democrats voted against him.

In announcing the appointment of Marshall, Johnson noted that the nominee will be taking a reduction in salary. He draws $33,000 yearly as a circuit judge, will get $28,000 as solicitor general.

The choice of Marks to succeed Carl T. Rowan, Negro director of the USIA, surprised many in Congress.

Marks was employed in various positions in the Federal Communications Commission, including assistant to the general counsel, and was appointed by Kennedy as one of the original incorporators of the Communications Satellite Corp.

The nominee served as attorney for the Johnson radio-television interests in Texas when Mrs. Johnson placed her holdings in trust.

Dirksen made no comment on Marks' qualifications for his new job. Mansfield said he does not know the nominee well but assumed that Johnson had found him qualified for the post.

Holland said, "I never heard of him."

Stevenson was engaged in a busy round of appointments when stricken. He was taken to St. George's Hospital at Hyde Park corner across from the garden of Buckingham Palace in the heart of the city.

He arrived here from Paris on Sunday and had been expected to return to the U.S. this weekend.

His last appearance at the United Nations was before the recent Security Council meeting on the Dominican crisis.

At that time he vigorously defended the U.S. action in sending military forces to the Dominican Republic.

Stevenson twice ran for the presidency against Dwight D. Eisenhower.

For almost three years during Harry S. Truman's administration he served as a delegate to international conferences, including the first two sessions of the U.N. General Assembly in 1946 and 1947.

Stevenson had been an important figure at the San Francisco conference of 1945 that drafted the U.N. charter.

A howl of protest had gone up in this famed French Riviera sun spot as wind and tide carried the thick ooze to the beaches, turning the sand and the water slimy black. Owners of beach establishments began toiling to remove the damage claims to present to the 6th Fleet.

Bombarded with complaints, Cannes Mayor Bernard Cornut-Gentile sent a police launch to the carrier to protest.

Officers on the Shangri-la apologized, explaining that the oil had been dumped near shore by error.

Swinging into action, the Navy sent a task force of 100 sailors ashore with shovels and trucks to haul away the greasy mess. Helicopters and small boats spread chemicals on the water to take the floating oil to the bottom.

The waters off Cannes were limpid blue again today and the sands were almost back to their original hue.

Daredevils Take Risks for Lousy Beer

JACUMBA, Calif. (AP) — Two motorcyclists roared into a train tunnel.

A few minutes later, having timed things badly, they roared back out. A few inches behind them was a train.

What was at the other end of the tunnel — and worth a confrontation with a diesel locomotive?

Beer. Thousands of cases of it — all there for the taking. The only problem was getting it out.

Last May 5, 11 cars of a San Diego, Arizona and Eastern Railway train derailed north of Jacumba, in eastern San Diego County near the Mexican border. Two truck vans loaded with beer tumbled off a flatcar into 1,000-foot-deep Carrizo Gorge.

The railroad figured the beer — 72,000 cans — was a complete loss.

Adventurous San Diego County youths figured otherwise. They heard about the beer, and headed for Carrizo Gorge.

New Hearing Denied Dr. Sam

Life Sentence Ordered Resumed

CINCINNATI (AP) — The U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals denied today a rehearing for Dr. Samuel Sheppard in the case in which it had ordered him returned to Ohio Penitentiary to resume a life sentence for murder.

Dr. Sheppard, a Cleveland osteopath, had served about 10 years of his sentence when a federal district judge ordered him released last July 16 on grounds he had not received a fair trial.

The appellate court reverse that ruling May 5, holding by a 2-1 vote that Sheppard should be sent back to prison.

Sheppard has been free since then, however, pending a decision on the motion for a rehearing. The court of appeals clerk's office said he now has five days in which to ask for another stay to prevent his return to prison. Such a stay would be asked if the case is carried to the U. S. Supreme Court, as his attorney has vowed.

Sheppard would be eligible for parole 90 days after any return to prison. He now is free on $10,000 bond and listed at the penitentiary as "absent with leave."

Judges Clifford O'Sullivan and Harry Phillips, who wrote the majority opinion in the original appellate decision, voted to deny rehearing and Judge George Edwards, who dissented originally, again opposed the majority.

The Court of Appeals also denied a defense motion for the full court of six judges to consider the request for a rehearing.

In its brief opinion today, the court said its original majority holding "was bottomed upon the conclusion that the petitioner had failed to meet his burden of proving 'not as a matter of speculation, but as a demonstrable reality' that upon his trial he was deprived of federally grant."

Thou Shalt Not Dispute Umpire

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Clark County sheriff's office sent several deputies Tuesday night to break up a bat-swinging free-for-all brawl between two softball teams.

One man was hospitalized with a possible concussion. Another player was treated at the hospital and released.

Deputies said the fight started over an umpire's decision during the game between teams from the Lutheran Inner Mission and Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

14-Day Ferris Wheel Ride Record Claimed

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Jim Bakich, 19, a San Jose City College freshman, today claimed a world record on the ferris wheel — 14 days of continual revolution.

The student slept, ate, listened to a radio and talked on a phone while aboard the ferris wheel gondola, located in a San Jose amusement park. He staggered slightly as he landed Tuesday, but said he was feeling fine.

Hoover echoed the opinion of his superior, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, in emphasizing that racial and student demonstrations that went on throughout the year were neither instigated nor controlled by Communists.

However, he said: "Communists used the opportunities presented to infiltrate many of the demonstrations and exploit them to their benefit in line with their own objectives."

Despite Dart and diesels, nearly all the beer has disappeared. But railroaders say the big joke of Jacumba is in the beer drinking.

One railroad official explained: "The beer was in refrigerated vans. Once it gets warm it tastes terrible, even if you re-refrigerate it. There wasn't a beer in that gorge worth walking across the street for."

Sheriff's officer Akred Dart has pounced, hawk-like, on 24 people. Dart seized all the beer they had risked their lives to recover. Four were prosecuted

Senate Approval Seen For Johnson Appointees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Party leaders predicted today the Senate will approve two of President Johnson's top nominees — Judge Thurgood Marshall to be solicitor general and Leonard H. Marks to direct the U.S. Information Agency.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in separate interviews they see no reason both the appointees should not be confirmed with reasonable speed.

However, Johnson's selection of Marshall, a Negro circuit judge, to succeed Archibald Cox as solicitor general, aroused some Southern opposition.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., said he believed the choice of the former general counsel

Red Envoys Dangerous, FBI Warns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Communist diplomatic personnel in the United States are a dangerous threat to national security, J. Edgar Hoover said today.

"The great majority of the 800 Communist-bloc official personnel stationed in the United States," the FBI director said, "protected by the privilege of diplomatic immunity have engaged in intelligence assignments and are a dangerous threat to the security of the United States."

In a fiscal year end report pointing with pride to FBI accomplishments, Hoover said members of the American Communist party "continued to constitute a major disruptive influence on the national scene" during the year.

Hoover echoed the opinion of his superior, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, in emphasizing that racial and student demonstrations that went on throughout the year were neither instigated nor controlled by Communists.

However, he said: "Communists used the opportunities presented to infiltrate many of the demonstrations and exploit them to their benefit in line with their own objectives."

Judging of the 27 candidates for the Miss Ohio crown begins Thursday at the Cedar Point Ballroom. The winner, who will represent the Buckeye State in the Miss America Pageant, will be announced Saturday night.

A total of 26 units will participate in the two-mile-long parade tonight, with prizes and trophies awarded those judged the best.

Traffic Violators Held For 17 Days in Jail

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — A man and a woman were held 17 days in the Pinellas County jail awaiting trial on traffic violations because neither could post $50 bond.

Julie Louis, 43, of Fort Lauderdale and John Klado, 50, of Hollywood, were released Tuesday by Peace Justice Jack Dadsell after pleading guilty.

"This is ridiculous," said Dadsell. "How can this happen?"

Death Comes In London

U.N. Ambassador Collapses in Street

LONDON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, 65, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, collapsed in the street in Grosvenor Square and died today.

Stevenson had just left the U.S. Embassy after talks with officials when he was stricken. The man who ran unsuccessfully for the Presidency in 1952 and 1956 was taken to a hospital.

Stevenson had been visiting London for talks with British officials. He had seen Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart this morning.

He died in St. George's Hospital at about 5 p. m. (11 a. m., EST).

Last night he appeared on a television interview over the British Broadcasting Corp. He showed no sign of illness.

Stevenson had been in Europe

ADLAI E. STEVENSON

to attend sessions of the U. N. Economic and Social Council in Geneva and was on his way back home.

He had gone direct to Geneva from the U.N. 20th anniversary observance in San Francisco.

He had consulted privately with Secretary-General U Thant in Geneva on the Viet Nam crisis.

Stevenson was engaged in a busy round of appointments when stricken. He was taken to St. George's Hospital at Hyde Park corner across from the garden of Buckingham Palace in the heart of the city.

He arrived here from Paris on Sunday and had been expected to return to the U.S. this weekend.

His last appearance at the United Nations was before the recent Security Council meeting on the Dominican crisis.

At that time he vigorously defended the U.S. action in sending military forces to the Dominican Republic.

Stevenson twice ran for the presidency against Dwight D. Eisenhower.

For almost three years during Harry S. Truman's administration he served as a delegate to international conferences, including the first two sessions of the U.N. General Assembly in 1946 and 1947.

Stevenson had been an important figure at the San Francisco conference of 1945 that drafted the U.N. charter.

President Kennedy appointed Stevenson as chief delegate to the United Nations Jan. 23, 1961.

Patrolman 'D' Has Been Stolen

STANHOPE, N.J. (AP) — Patrolman "D" — that stands for dummy — has been kidnapped. Police Chief Jerome Diehl disclosed the deed Tuesday night as he and this north Jersey community's other police officer continued their hunt.

Patrolman "D" began his career six weeks ago when he was dressed in policeman's blues and placed in a mockup police car along Route 206 as a warning to speeding motorists.

"Somebody took him Sunday night," Chief Diehl said. "We kept it secret in the hope we could catch up with the thief."

The chief said it cost his department $25 to outfit Patrolman "D."

Keaton

RECORDS and testimony offered by Shapiro indicated that Keaton was a below average student, had a high absentee record and was added to the "drop out" list in the eighth grade.

Nadlin put an 18-year-old Dayton girl on the stand who was allegedly kidnapped by Keaton, along with her boyfriend, Beatrice Handler told the court that she and a friend, Paul Cortherspoon, also of Dayton, were forced at gunpoint to drive Keaton out of the Dayton area and into southern Ohio.

She said she and her boyfriend were eating lunch in their car on Mar. 19 (four days before the Williamsport killing), when Keaton, gun in his hand, climbed into the backseat of the auto and asked that they drive him somewhere.

The girl said Keaton told them who he was and that he

Stock Trading Remains Dull

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market picked up some strength early this afternoon but trading remained dull.

Stocks were mixed at the start and gradually moved higher on balance, although there was nothing much in the way of group leadership.

Concern over the U.S. role in Viet Nam caused considerable caution. But caution over Viet Nam has continued for some time and there was nothing drastic to cause a selloff.

Airlines recovered from losses taken Tuesday. The trend was a little higher among chemicals, office equipments, electronics, steels and aerospace issues.

Oils were lower and utilities were down a bit.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 323.8 with industrials up .4, rails up .4 and utilities off .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.85 at 879.82.

was "wanted for some trouble at Mike's Lunch." The students said they learned later that three people had been shot, two of them fatally, at the restaurant.

Both Miss Handler and Wotherspoon said on the witness stand that Keaton discussed his "problems" and the incident in Dayton freely with them. They said he questioned them about their families, their future and discussed his own wife and children.

During the 30-hour stay with the accused murderer, they said they stopped several times for gasoline and food and halted to rest twice. After driving throughout the southern Ohio area and trying to decide what to do with the teen-agers "he suddenly said he would take us back home," the young witnesses added.

THE CAPTIVE couple and the accused murderer arrived back in the Dayton area in mid-afternoon of Mar. 20, according to testimony. They waited until dusk in a suburban area and were told, according to Miss Handler, that they should call the police and inform them what had happened, but that "they left Keaton in Parkersburg, W. Va."

The phone call was made, in addition to a second call after they left Keaton's company. They later told police the truth at the home of Wotherspoon.

Both students, testifying separately, said that Keaton in no way threatened them or used violence on them. They said he seemed "frightened, worried and nervous." Just before he decided to let them return to Dayton, the couple said Keaton wanted to see his wife and children.

Dr. Reshetly was called back to the witness stand and Nadlin continued his efforts to break down the report submitted on Keaton's state of sanity.

Parts of the report on Keaton were made by psychologists at Lima other than the doctor on the stand, who admitted that there were "differences of opinion in the same report."

Some of the psychologist's findings were that Keaton gave "extreme psychotic responses to certain tests," that he was extremely labile (unstable) and although he was friendly and co-operative during interviews his "demonstrated psychopathic attitudes."

The report noted that Keaton did not commit robberies for monetary gain, but for the pleasure he received in "ordering others around."

Following a fast and loudly delivered line of questioning by Nadlin concerning the frequency of psychotic behavior, the Lima doctor said he could not say whether Keaton was in a psychotic state of behaviour when the alleged crimes were committed.

Judge William Ammer who presided over the hearing, Nadlin and Prosecuting Attorney Robert H. Huffer went into conference in the judge's chambers after the final questioning of Dr. Reshetly.

UPON returning to the courtroom, Judge Ammer ruled that Keaton was legally sane and able to counsel in his own defense and stand trial. He based his decision upon the Lima report and testimony offered yesterday.

The trial will get under way 9 a. m. on Monday, Sept. 13. The seating of a jury will be the first order of business.

DR. JULIO SANGUILY

Cuban Doctor Speaker at Kiwanis Meet

Dr. Julio Sanguily To Join Son in Medical Field Here

Dr. Julio Sanguily, a new resident of Circleville, was guest speaker at this week's dinner meeting of the local Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Sanguily plans to establish his medical practice in Circleville and become affiliated with his son, Dr. Manuel Sanguily, at 407 E. Main St. He will open his own offices at the same address in the near future.

Dr. Sanguily described the communist takeover of Cuba, which forced him to leave his native country. He told of the dangers he believes that this country faces with communist Cuba only 90 miles from its shores.

In pointing out the differences between democracy of the United States and Castro's Cuba, he listed these practices imposed by the communistic Cuban government: no right to speak critically of the government; no freedom of the press; no right to organize political parties; no free elections; no labor unions; no legal system; no freedom of education; no religious freedom and the removal of the name of God from the country's constitution.

AFTER coming to this country about four years ago, Dr. Sanguily was named director of medical education at St. Anthony's Hospital, Columbus. After he passed the State Medical Board exam, he opened his practice in Newark, where he remained until he recently moved to Circleville.

During the business session of the Kiwanis meeting, perfect attendance awards were presented to Richard W. Penn for 14 years, William Ammer for 16 years, Dale A. Krom for 11 years and David Hoffman for six years.

Guests attending the meeting were from Lancaster and Ashville clubs.

Man Finds Loan Is Bank's Gift

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old steel worker who went to the bank for a $1,000 loan was amazed when the bank gave it to him as a gift.

Officials of the Marine Trust Co. of Western New York handed Henry A. Kawa of suburban Orchard Park ten $100 bills Tuesday and marked his loan paid in full.

A bank spokesman said that last month the bank noticed it had granted 650,000 loans and decided to make a gift of a loan sought by its 700,000th customer.

Kawa was No. 700,000.

Hope Revived

clear weapons in the world and to expand the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, concluded in 1963. The United States wants to prohibit underground tests as well as those in the atmosphere.

The Soviet bloc repeatedly has turned down American proposals to revive the talks, saying it preferred to carry on the discussions in the 114-member U.N. Disarmament Commission in New York. The commission voted overwhelmingly last month for a resumption of the Geneva talks, and Western officials here believe this played a big part in the Soviet change of heart.

The United States is reported willing for the first time to discuss the multilateral nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at the conference.

The Soviets have warned repeatedly that creation of the force would raise "insurmountable obstacles" to any treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear arms.

The conference, which was first convened in March 1962, has been deadlocked for years over rival Soviet and U.S. disarmament plans.

3-Satellite Launch Set For Thursday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A pair of SENTRY satellites is to be launched here early Thursday to detect nuclear bomb explosions in space.

The Air Force announced today that the twin sentinels will be sent into high-flying orbits by an Atlas-Agena rocket. Riding along will be a third satellite, a 12-pounder designed to measure radiation in the Van Allen Belt.

The nuclear detection satellites will join four others launched in pairs in 1963 and 1964.

The earlier satellites have delicate sensors which peer more than 200 million miles into space to spot a clandestine nuclear detonation. The new pair also will carry optical instruments capable of detecting a nuclear blast anywhere in the atmosphere or on the earth's surface.

The optical instruments were designed to differentiate the initial blast of a bomb from lightning flashes, which are occurring at the rate of 60 to 100 a second in the atmosphere.

Two years ago, the United States and the Soviet Union were among more than 100 nations which signed the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Red China, which recently exploded her first nuclear devices above ground, did not sign.

The satellites were developed under a project named Vela — night watch — to help police the treaty. A nation could secretly fire a nuclear bomb by rocketing it deep into space. A second rocket would be needed to carry diagnostic gear.

Trial Opens For Fullback Jim Brown

CLEVELAND (AP) — The prosecution in the trial of football fullback Jim Brown said in an opening statement today that Brown attempted to commit a "repugnant" act on an 18-year-old girl who has charged him with assault and battery.

Police Prosecutor Albert Corsi said evidence will show that the Cleveland Browns star had known the girl three weeks and had several dates with her before he slapped the girl around the "face and hips" in an East Side motel room registered in his name.

After the alleged beating, Corsi said, Brown went out to play golf—about 4 a.m.

Norman S. Minor, Brown's attorney, asked the jury "to hold your minds open to all of the evidence—I mean the credible evidence." He said the evidence will show that Brown "did not batter or assault" the girl, Brenda Ayres.

A jury of seven women and five men were seated in the morning session and two alternates later were sworn in.

Keaton

upon subpoena by Nadlin, offered copies of Keaton's school records as official court exhibits.

RECORDS and testimony offered by Shapiro indicated that Keaton was a below average student, had a high absentee record and was added to the "drop out" list in the eighth grade.

Nadlin put an 18-year-old Dayton girl on the stand who was allegedly kidnapped by Keaton, along with her boyfriend, Beatrice Handler told the court that she and a friend, Paul Cortherspoon, also of Dayton, were forced at gunpoint to drive Keaton out of the Dayton area and into southern Ohio.

She said she and her boyfriend were eating lunch in their car on Mar. 19 (four days before the Williamsport killing), when Keaton, gun in his hand, climbed into the backseat of the auto and asked that they drive him somewhere.

The girl said Keaton told them who he was and that he was "wanted for some trouble at Mike's Lunch." The students said they learned later that three people had been shot, two of them fatally, at the restaurant.

Both Miss Handler and Wotherspoon said on the witness stand that Keaton discussed his "problems" and the incident in Dayton freely with them. They said he questioned them about their families, their future and discussed his own wife and children.

During the 30-hour stay with the accused murderer, they said they stopped several times for gasoline and food and halted to rest twice. After driving throughout the southern Ohio area and trying to decide what to do with the teen-agers "he suddenly said he would take us back home," the young witnesses added.

THE CAPTIVE couple and the accused murderer arrived back in the Dayton area in mid-afternoon of Mar. 20, according to testimony. They waited until dusk in a suburban area and were told, according to Miss Handler, that they should call the police and inform them what had happened, but that "they left Keaton in Parkersburg, W. Va."

The phone call was made, in addition to a second call after they left Keaton's company. They later told police the truth at the home of Wotherspoon.

Both students, testifying separately, said that Keaton in no way threatened them or used violence on them. They said he seemed "frightened, worried and nervous." Just before he decided to let them return to Dayton, the couple said Keaton wanted to see his wife and children.

Dr. Reshetly was called back to the witness stand and Nadlin continued his efforts to break down the report submitted on Keaton's state of sanity.

Parts of the report on Keaton were made by psychologists at Lima other than the doctor on the stand, who admitted that there were "differences of opinion in the same report."

Some of the psychologist's findings were that Keaton gave "extreme psychotic responses to certain tests," that he was extremely labile (unstable) and although he was friendly and cooperative during interviews his "demonstrated psychopathic attitudes."

The report noted that Keaton did not commit robberies for monetary gain, but for the pleasure he received in "ordering others around."

Following a fast and loudly delivered line of questioning by Nadlin concerning the frequency of psychotic behavior, the Lima doctor said he could not say whether Keaton was in a psychotic state of behaviour when the alleged crimes were committed.

Judge William Ammer who presided over the hearing, Nadlin and Prosecuting Attorney Robert H. Huffer went into conference in the judge's chambers after the final questioning of Dr. Reshetly.

UPON returning to the courtroom, Judge Ammer ruled that Keaton was legally sane and able to counsel in his own defense and stand trial. He basd his decision upon the Lima report and testimony offered yesterday.

The trial will get under way 9 a. m. on Monday, Sept. 13. The seating of a jury will be the first order of business.

DR. JULIO SANGUILY

Cuban Doctor Speaker at Kiwanis Meet

Dr. Julio Sanguily To Join Son in Medical Field Here

Dr. Julio Sanguily, a new resident of Circleville, was guest speaker at this week's dinner meeting of the local Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Sanguily plans to establish his medical practice in Circleville and become affiliated with his son, Dr. Manuel Sanguily, at 407 E. Main St. He will open his own offices at the same address in the near future.

Dr. Sanguily described the communist takeover of Cuba, which forced him to leave his native country. He told of the dangers he believes that this country faces with communist Cuba only 90 miles from its shores.

In pointing out the differences between democracy of the United States and Castro's Cuba, he listed these practices imposed by the communist Cuban government: no right to speak critically of the government; no freedom of the press; no right to organize political parties; no free elections; no labor unions; no legal system; no freedom of education; no religious freedom and the removal of the name of God from the country's constitution.

AFTER coming to this country about four years ago, Dr. Sanguily was named director of medical education at St. Anthony's Hospital, Columbus. After he passed the State Medical Board exam, he opened his practice in Newark, where he remained until he recently moved to Circleville.

During the business session of the Kiwanis meeting, perfect attendance awards were presented to Richard W. Penn for 14 years, William Ammer for 16 years, Dale Ankrom for 11 years and David Hoffman for six years.

Guests attending the meeting were from Lancaster and Ashville clubs.

Man Finds Loan Is Bank's Gift

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old steel worker who went to the bank for a $1,000 loan was amazed when the bank gave it to him as a gift.

Officials of the Marine Trust Co. of Western New York handed Henry A. Kawa of suburban Orchard Park ten $100 bills Tuesday and marked his loan paid in full.

A bank spokesman said that last month the bank noticed it had granted 650,000 loans and decided to make a gift of a loan sought by its 700,000th customer.

Kawa was No. 700,000.

Hope Revived

clear weapons in the world and to expand the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, concluded in 1963. The United States wants to prohibit underground tests as well as those in the atmosphere.

The Soviet bloc repeatedly had turned down American proposals to revive the talks, saying it preferred to carry on the discussions in the 114-member U.N. Disarmament Commission in New York. The commission voted overwhelmingly last month for a resumption of the Geneva talks, and Western officials here believe this played a big part in the Soviet change of heart.

The United States is reported willing for the first time to discuss the multilateral nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at the conference.

The Soviets have warned repeatedly that creation of the force would raise "insurmountable obstacles" to any treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear arms.

The conference, which was first convened in March 1962, has been deadlocked for years over rival Soviet and U.S. disarmament plans.

3-Satellite Launch Set For Thursday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A pair of Sentry satellites is to be launched here early Thursday to detect nuclear bomb explosions in space.

The Air Force announced today that the twin sentinels will be sent into high-flying orbits by an Atlas-Agena rocket. Riding along will be a third satellite, a 12-pounder designed to measure radiation in the Van Allen Belt.

The nuclear detection satellites will join four others launched in pairs in 1963 and 1964.

The earlier satellites have delicate sensors which peer more than 200 million miles into space to spot a clandestine nuclear detonation. The new pair also will carry optical instruments capable of detecting a nuclear blast anywhere in the atmosphere or on the earth's surface.

The optical instruments were designed to differentiate the initial blast of a bomb from lightning flashes, which are occurring at the rate of 60 to 100 a second in the atmosphere.

Two years ago, the United States and the Soviet Union were among more than 100 nations which signed the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Red China, which recently exploded her first nuclear devices above ground, did not sign.

The satellites were developed under a project named Vela — night watch — to help police the treaty. A nation could secretly fire a nuclear bomb by rocketing it deep into space. A second rocket would be needed to carry diagnostic gear.

Bobcat Breaks Neck In Dash Against Car

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — W. G. Gerrard and his family were driving along south of Miami at night recently when something dashed out of the shadows and crashed into the car. Back along the road, Gerrard found a 30-pound female bobcat with a broken neck. "A beautiful animal," he said, "All of five feet long."

Plant Expansion Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Cleveland Powder Metal Co., Inc., will expand its plant at Kent to provide an additional 175 jobs, according to an announcement Tuesday by the Ohio Department of Development.

The library of the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse, N. Y. contains nearly 100,000 volumes on the subject of forestry and related subjects.

ed constitutional rights." The opinion referred again to defense claims that the trial judge had made pretrial remarks which should have prevented him from presiding over the case.

"As to the latter issue," the appellate court said, "we declined to hold clearly erroneous the district judge's finding that the trial judge had made the remarks attributed to him."

"We held, however, that petitioner failed to produce any evidence of conduct by such judge which impaired his constitutional rights."

The opinion held that the decision by Judge Carl Weinman releasing Sheppard was without support in the record and said that if his conclusions should be viewed as findings of fact "we consider they were clearly erroneous."

The denial again was by a 2-1 vote. Judges Clifford O'Sullivan and Harry Phillips, who wrote the majority opinion in the original appellate decision, voted to deny rehearing and Judge George Edwards, who dissented originally, again opposed "the majority."

Safety Does Sell

"Safety doesn't sell."

That is what auto manufacturers have been replying to critics who ask why cars are built without many well-tested safety features.

Now, it seems, safety does sell. At least to the United States government, which buys about 60,000 cars annually. Beginning with the 1967 models, the government has said, any autos it buys must have 17 specific safety features. These include such items as recessed instruments and controls on the dashboard, dual brake systems and four-way flashers to warn of emergency stops.

The government's orders are going to have an effect on cars Detroit sells to other customers, too.

It seems inexplicable that individual car owners haven't encouraged the auto industry to incorporate safety features long before this. The truth is, customers have proved to the auto industry that they are much more willing to pay for horsepower than safety, and have even boycotted safety devices.

If the government's decision paves the way to acceptance of safety features, and to the public's willingness to pay for them, there may be drastic changes in cars in future years. With traffic accidents, and deaths, injuries and property losses from them, everything possible must be tried to reverse the trend.

Additional safety features in cars, of course, are for the future, even if they will start next year. In the meantime, current model cars are being driven on current roads. And most accidents can be prevented by good driving.

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:

There are four words here that stir apprehension in the average American.

Two are "Viet Cong." The other two are "nuoc mam."

There are some who say they'd rather face the Viet Cong for a week than spend an hour in the presence of nuoc mam.

Nuoc mam isn't the name of an enemy organization. Aside from rice, it is the most highly prized item in the Vietnamese diet.

A pungent sauce eaten at most meals, nuoc mam is made by pressing alternate layers of fish and salt that have been left standing for a period of weeks or months. What drips through, friends, is an oily, odoriferous mixture that assaults the nose.

There are three squeezings of nuoc mam, but the first squeezing is most highly prized. Heaven help the man who gets the third.

The Vietnamese douses it liberally on rice, meat, fish, poultry and most vegetables. After considerable urging, and some trepidation, I sampled it at a Vietnamese dinner recently and wound up eating a saucer of it.

It is quite flavorful, but like olives or raw oysters it's an acquired taste. You don't notice the odor yourself. But after I returned to the press camp, my friends insisted I stand downwind from them for the rest of the evening.

Most Vietnamese eat fairly well. They consume only about two-thirds as much daily as Americans, but they are only about two-thirds as large.

Their diet is somewhat deficient in proteins and vitamins, particularly among the poorer classes. They rarely get beef, and when they do it often comes from an elderly water buffalo who spent the best years of his life stolidly plowing the paddies.

Incidentally, you may have heard much of the ability of Oriental soldiers to perform miracle feats of military endurance while fueled by only a handful or two of plain boiled rice.

To Maj. Richard Allen Jr., Miami, Fla., a veteran U.S. Army Special Forces officer, this is largely myth.

Black Period for Communists

The Foreign Minister of Ruritania was on his favorite subject: the inability of American "liberals" to see the world as it really is.

"I see by your papers," he said, "that there's grumbling among the liberal pundits that Lyndon Johnson has bitten off more than he can chew in trying to hold the line against the Communists around the world. But having the liberals ever tried to imagine what things must look like these days from Moscow and Peking?"

"Why, in Moscow this must look like the blackest summer ever. Nothing is coming up roses for Kremlin foreign policy. Here the Soviets are committed to building defenses for Hanoi in North Vietnam. Under their theory of support for socialist countries they can't get out of it. But what if, for reasons of face, they were ever forced really to defend the defenses? What have they got for war, with the Gobi Desert and the Himalayas between them and the front? Back home in Russia they've had to put more money into trying to build up agriculture to the point where it can feed the Soviet people. They've had to restore at least an imitation of the profit motive in industry in order to get anybody to work. What have they got to spare for anything more than defense of their own home power base?"

"True enough, the Viet Cong is giving the United States trouble now that the monsoons are turning South Vietnam into gumbo. But there were no rains to protect Ben Bella in Algeria. The new Algerian dictator, Colonel Boumedienne, may be no great friend of the West, but he's booting out the Afro-Asian summiters, he's thrown a monkey wrench into Commie Youth Festival which was to have been held in Algiers at the end of July, and he's indicated that he doesn't want to see his country runs for the benefit of either Russia or China. This must seem downright ungrateful to Brezhnev and Kossygin; after all, Russia once committed a lot of money to build a steel plant in Algeria. As for the Red Chinese, they had counted on the Algerian Afro-Asian summit meeting to bring most of Africa into their orbit. But now the Chinese find the Prime Minister of little Malawi denouncing them for trying to corrupt the Africans.

"Skipping the Caribbean, the Communists thought they had the Dominican Republic in their pockets. But Lyndon surprised them with those 21,000 Marines. Think of the shock that this must have caused in the Kremlin. And think of what this must have done to shake the plans of Fidel Castro. Inci-

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

When blood is coughed up does it always mean a serious condition like tuberculosis?

Coughing up blood, or hemoptysis, does not always indicate serious disease. In fact, blood-streaked sputum is far more commonly caused by unimportant conditions.

Blood in the sputum, or after a severe cough, is frightening to many people. The cause is usually found by simple examination. The anxiety it causes can then be relieved.

Sometimes blood from the gums and teeth can run down the back of the throat and then is coughed up. This does not come from the lungs.

Tiny blood vessels that lie on the lining of the nose and throat sometimes break after colds, injuries or irritations. Many people become terribly upset when the blood trickles down and is then coughed up.

Coughing up blood has been identified with the "Camille" picture of tuberculosis.

But the likelihood is that occasional blood-streaked sputum is not dangerous. Yet any long-lasting cough, with or without blood, must be investigated to insure the absence of troublesome disease.

What is "housewife's eczema" of the skin? How can it be prevented?

The redness, itching and inflammation of the skin of hands, so often called dishpan hands, is an allergic reaction.

Detergents, laundry soaps, harsh cleansing chemicals, lacquer sprays and sometimes even fruit and vegetable juices can cause the raw, painful eczema of the housewife's skin.

Sometimes the chapped skin surfaces are infected by germs that produce long-lasting and annoying dermatitis.

Rubber gloves are not always as protective as is commonly believed. If they are worn for more than 15 minutes at a time moisture may collect on the skin, irritating it and making it vulnerable to infection. Most women however, find these gloves good protection against skin irritations.

Some silicone creams can be fairly protective.

Some people are highly sensitive to products which do not affect the skin of the average person. By trial and error, the offending substances can often be discovered.

Can copper bracelets worn around the ankles prevent or cure arthritis?

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The summertime pace of business has a new look this year. If there's no burst of speed, there's little of the customary footdragging either.

Steel output is finally turning down. But the mills are still jogging along at a 14 per cent faster rate than a year ago. Order backlogs will keep most mills busy all summer.

Factory jobs are at the highest level since the World War II peak of all-out activity. There will be some plantwide closings for vacations as usual. But many factories are striving to keep going as long as possible because of a big backlog of orders.

Auto production is due to drop from its record pace as the plants close for the customary changeovers to new models. But the industry is stretching its time schedule this summer. A few plants are down now. Many won't close until late August. By then the earlier closers will be in full swing again.

Retail sales have slipped a bit from the record May volume. But the nation's dealers and merchants report sales still running 7 per cent or so above last year.

General prosperity is the main cause for this summer's sprightlier pace. There also is the momentum set up by a record first-half year — an extraordinary burst in the first three months, and a better than expected performance in the next three.

But there are special reasons why some of the top industries are going stronger this summer than usual.

Steel users will be taking shipments through most of the summer on orders placed earlier as they sought to build up stocks while the steel-labor negotiations drag on.

The peak of the orders seems over — hence the decline of the last three weeks in the torrid pace set by most mills for months. But the strike threat still remains. If a strike should seem more likely September 1, inventory ordering could pick up in August. If a settlement is reached before then, living off inventories will become a way of life for many steel users.

But steel producers say even this may prove a little too pat. Many steel consumers have had to use up more of their supplies than they anticipated because their own business has been so good. Just how big will be the pile of inventories to liquidate is uncertain.

Auto production time schedules may also be tied to strikes — the real one in that industry last fall, and the possible one in steel. Some auto firms, because of record sales, still haven't caught up entirely with the demand for the old models and are producing them later this summer than last. Safety Does Sell

"Safety doesn't sell."

That is what auto manufacturers have been replying to critics who ask why cars are built without many well-tested safety features.

Now, it seems, safety does sell. At least to the United States government, which buys about 60,000 cars annually. Beginning with the 1967 models, the government has said, any autos it buys must have 17 specific safety features. do a lot on little," he said. "But they don't get by on just rice and salt."

Some troops, like some people at home, aren't quite sure just why we are over here. It has been explained officially, of course, again and again that Americans are here at the invitation of the South Vietnamese government to help the people in their quest for political freedom from the North.

But the most eloquent statement of our purpose here was made by a young U.S. Army lieutenant.

"What we are doing here is nation building," he said. "Until the country is raised to a 20th century level, this war won't be over. It may take 10 or 15 years."

"They're growing very fast economically and technologically. But their thinking isn't growing that fast. That's why it will take so long."

dentally, Fidel suddenly seems frightened of his own shadow. His revolution is now devouring its own children: Che Guevara has disappeared, Fidel has had to replace his economic planners, and he's had to sell off Cuba's cattle, presumably to pay for his wardrobe of bullet-proof vests.

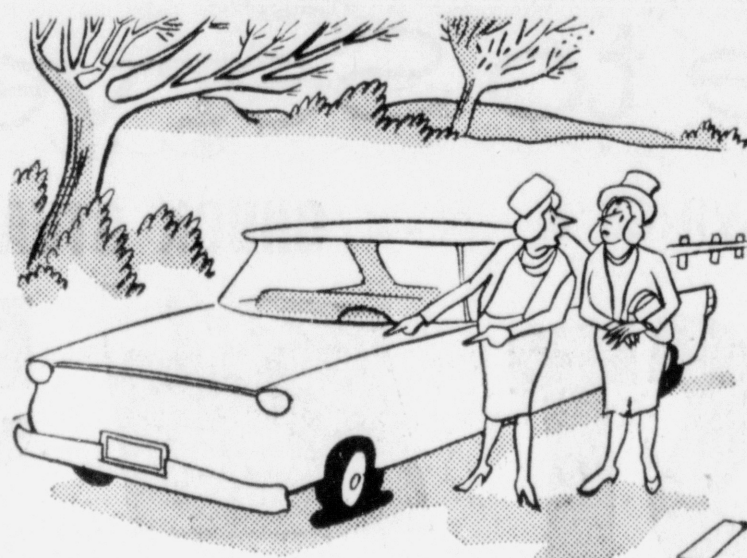

"In the Dominican Republic the bid of the so-called 'rebels' to take over the government in the name of Bosch and 'constitutionalism' has misfired because the OAS pacification force happens to be led by Brazilians, who have had enough of 'leftists' who play with Communists. It now looks as though there would be a long period of OAS occupation, with an election deferred until such time as the Communist question has been settled. Really, you Americans have had more luck than you care to recognize."

"Finally, there's the Congo. Moise Tshombe seems to have stabilized things there for the moment. Arms aren't flowing to Congolese Communists any more from Algeria and Europe. Lyndon seems to have twisted Nasser's arm most effectively.

"If you want to know the score about the failure of Communist aid to the so-called 'colonial' world, why don't you read Victor Lasky's new book, 'The Ugly Russian?' Your 'liberal' reviewers have done this book dirt. But you can't argue with its facts: Soviet foreign aid has been no more effective than U.S. foreign aid. Vic Lasky is a first-rate reporter. And the stories he has to tell!

"I don't suppose I can convince your liberals that LBJ's foreign policy is a tremendous success. After all, you can't argue with people who just won't give up wearing hair shirts."

Pet Blackbird Returns After 9 Months Away
AUSTELL, Ga. (AP) — Two years ago the George L. Wilsons found a baby red-winged blackbird in their yard, took it in and named it Buzzy. He soon became a house pet.
After 14 months Buzzy flew away. Now, nine months later, Buzzy is back. Mrs. Wilson said she knew it was Buzzy because his first stop after flying in through a window was the kitchen sink shower bath, one of his favorite spots.

Minimum Pay in Hotel Industry Hit
WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Hotel & Motel Association warned Tuesday that 100,000 potential jobs for Job Corps trainees will go down the drain if Congress brings the industry under the federal minimum wage.
The association said it had so advised President Johnson and Job Corps Director Otis Singletary.
"We have been working with the Job Corps people in an effort to be of assistance to them," said the association's Washington representatives, Albert L. McDermott.
At the same time, another representative of the Association, Arthur J. Packard, told a Senate Labor subcommittee that minimum wage and overtime coverage of the industry would be catastrophic.
Packard, president of the Packard Hotels Co. headquartered in Mount Vernon, Ohio, said the industry is still suffering the effects of a severe 1963 depression and would have to lay off many workers if forced to pay them $1.25 per hour.

"The hotel-motel industry today employs a larger percentage of persons who possess no special skill, and are less employable in general than the rank and file of workers in other industries," Packard said.

Pet Blackbird Returns After 9 Months Away

AUSTELL, Ga. (AP) — Two years ago the George L. Wilsons found a baby red-winged blackbird in their yard, took it in and named it Buzzy. He soon became a house pet.

After 14 months Buzzy flew away. Now, nine months later, Buzzy is back. Mrs. Wilson said she knew it was Buzzy because his first stop after flying in through a window was the kitchen sink shower bath, one of his favorite spots.

Minimum Pay in Hotel Industry Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Hotel & Motel Association warned Tuesday that 100,000 potential jobs for Job Corps trainees will go down the drain if Congress brings the industry under the federal minimum wage.

The association said it had so advised President Johnson and Job Corps Director Otis Singletary.

"We have been working with the Job Corps people in an effort to be of assistance to them," said the association's Washington representatives, Albert L. McDermott.

At the same time, another representative of the Association, Arthur J. Packard, told a Senate Labor subcommittee that minimum wage and overtime coverage of the industry would be catastrophic.

Packard, president of the Packard Hotels Co. headquartered in Mount Vernon, Ohio, said the industry is still suffering the effects of a severe 1963 depression and would have to lay off many workers if forced to pay them $1.25 per hour.

"The hotel-motel industry today employs a larger percentage of persons who possess no special skill, and are less employable in general than the rank and file of workers in other industries," Packard said.

Fashionable Cottons Are Wrinkle-Free

By ELEANOR ROSS

Let us look at wrinkle-free cottons. These differ from the wash-and-wears in that they are chemically treated so they wrinkle less during actual wear. They generally need only light pressing.

Polished cottons are those with a surface luster which can have either a high gloss or can be quite subdued.

The luster is durable, having been fixed by resins and then mechanically buffed to the desired glossiness. This variety has some wrinkle-resistance and may be of the wash-and-wear type.

Pressing the polished cottons with a warm iron is quick and easy. They can be washed by hand or by machine if prolonged washing cycles and machine tangle are avoided.

The finish makes starching unnecessary, although a light application will perk up a polished garment nicely after a lot of washings.

Many finishes become increasingly effective after long use. That's why the word permanent, though often used to describe a particular finish, may be a slight and unintentional exaggeration. Durable may often be a much more accurate description.

Cotton needs the action of soap or detergent suds to make it look and feel really fresh and clean, and to reveal the color in all its vividness. That is why colorfastness must be an important consideration in selecting cotton fabrics or garments.

Most quality cottons are colored by one of three methods—yarn-dyed, piece-dyed, or printed. Yarn-dyed fabrics which are extremely colorfast, come only in solids, stripes, or checks.

Yarn-dyed, as the term suggests, means that color is applied before the fabric is woven or knitted. Piece dyeing, done after the fabric is woven, produces only solid colors which tend to be very fast (or permanent) when it comes to washing.

Printed designs are produced by using engraved blocks, metal rollers, or screens to apply the chosen dyestuff.

Even though the dyes are "cured" and set after printing, they do not always completely penetrate the fibers and thus may be less fast to washing.

Cotton is now a year-round fabric, thanks to the many textures and weights made possible by such scientific advances as new printing techniques which

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Tall Girl Is Consoled

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and miserable. The truth is I am 5 feet, 11 inches tall, and I am a girl! Everyone says I won't grow any more, but I have heard of people growing until they are 21, and if I grow any more I will kill myself. My father is six feet, six inches and my mother is six feet one so what did they expect? Midgits? Everyone has always told them they made a handsome couple, but I sure wish they had never met each other. I know it's hard to tell people not to fall in love and get married, but if they would only stop and think of their unborn children.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Rolland Osborne, agent in charge of the Secret Service's Denver office, says a local counterfeiter split a $20 bill down the middle and glued both sides to the same $1 bill, passing the $21 "sandwich" to a shopkeeper for $20.

allow even velveteen and corduroy to have patterns.

Cotton units, cotton tweeds, velveteens and corduroys are often both wash-and-wear and wrinkle-resistant, and come in dark colors and prints appropriate for winter use. They can be washed and dried in the same manner as lighter weight cottons, but should not be bleached or starched.

now. Some of the most beautiful girls in the world are six feet tall, and taller — show girls, models and the girls who walk off with the basketball stars! And when YOU choose a mate you'll want one who's at least as tall as you, won't you? So don't blame your parents for aiming high. You'll probably follow suit.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me with this embarrassing situation. My husband is 66 and has been retired since 1950. We don't go out to eat very often, but when we do he has a habit of "kidding around" with the waitresses. He can't just order his meal, eat it and leave. He has to make some personal remark to the waitress, like "Say, what nationality are you?" Or "How long have you been working here?" Sooner or later he asks her if she is married. It never fails. Isn't he being rude to the waitress and inconsiderate of me? If you have any suggestions on how to solve this problem, I would appreciate it.

"BUGS BUNNY"

DEAR BUGS: Yes, it is considered bad manners to direct personal remarks to the waitress, but if your husband is this type you aren't going to change him at age 66. Don't be embarrassed. Some waitresses enjoy it, too. And those who don't know how to serve up an icy retort.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Telephone Sweetheart," who fell in love with a voice over the telephone, that she's real smart not to give "The Voice" her home phone number. Also tell her that voices don't always match the images built up in one's mind. Some time ago I worked in the central office of a large utility company. One of my duties required much telephone contact with employees in branch offices throughout the state. In one branch office was a man with whom I particularly enjoyed talking. He had a GORGEOUS voice! I confess, I spent a lot of time thinking about him. Then he visited the central office! How that voice could have emanated from such a pimply-faced, emaciated little pipsqueak, I'll never know. But it did. I have been suspicious of golden voices ever since.

Fall Fashions Call For Heavy Wraps

NEW YORK (AP) — You'd think that heating houses was going out of style, the way fashion designers plan to bundle up women this fall.

Mannequins with pretty faces and well-turned legs had little chance to show off these assets, so covered were they as they paraded past fashion writers Thursday during the second day of fall previews called the American Designer Series.

Misses who wore boots at the Anne Fogarty show reappeared at the Pauline Trigere performance in spats to match their fuzzy tweed suits.

Under their cutaway jackets they wore jersey blouses with attached hoods that nearly concealed their faces. Even the sheaths in which they appeared later came with foot-high collars called cachecous, meaning neckhiders, although they hid much of the head as well.

After scurrying in and out in a flurry of styles including raincoats as full as umbrellas and tunic-like escort coats over skinny princess dresses, the models returned coddled in opulent fur.

Little white mink suits, broad-tail evening gowns, chic ermine boleros worn backwards or forwards, and different kinds of scarves, all five yards long, and sometimes studded with jewels, were in the lineup of hot and high-priced fashions for fall.

On the other hand, Lilly Dache calculated to make herself the heroine of husbands by introducing heat-producing furs at bargain prices. She gave prestige to the pauper pelts — particularly squirrel, muskrat and rabbit — with a good dye job and some chic styling.

Insurance Is Provided With New Strapless Garb

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although shoulder straps are missing and hemlines are high on costumes in the new fall collections, the designers expect and are prepared to meet resistance.

"We plan to ship these dresses with extra shoulder straps, just in case," Karen Stark, designer for the Harvey Berin fashion house, told fashion writers Tuesday. The writers are here for the New York Couture Group's semiannual press previews.

As she spoke, several pretty maidens appeared in black or white figure-revealing crepe dinner gowns that clung to one shoulder strap, presumably for security.

Actually, gowns today upholster the bosom snugly enough so that not even one strap is needed to hold them safely in place — and certainly not old-fashioned, flesh-jabbing stays.

There were plenty of interesting and beautiful cases in point, among them shoulderless velvet and satin gowns, the bodices of which were tightly drawn bands of glittering crystals or wispy ostrich plumes.

"The short skirt length is right," said Vincent Monte-Sano, referring to the inch-above-the-knee hems in the coat and suit line created for his fashion house by designer Jacques Tiffeau. "The focus changes as the real fashion interest moves into the jacket itself, particularly the neckline."

Yet Monte-Sano as well as Rudi Gernreich, Ann Fogarty and others who figure prominently in the short, short-skirt story, will lower hems if buyers insist, or make them deep enough to allow women to let them out themselves.

Pleats, A-line cuts or a little gathering at the waist on most of the short skirts in the collection provided plenty of stride room. A few suits with skirts as skinny as they were brief offered the wearer an interesting challenge in sitting down with grace and modesty.

POP-ULAR TREND—"Pop art" has entered the fashion field in New York. The two styles shown carry the label, "Marieanne Ohm of Malmo, Sweden." Both fashions are done in cotton jersey knit.

One of my duties required much telephone contact with employees in branch offices throughout the state. In one branch office was a man with whom I particularly enjoyed talking. He had a GORGEOUS voice! I confess, I spent a lot of time thinking about him. Then he visited the central office! How that voice could have emanated from such a pimply-faced, emaciated little pipsqueak, I'll never know. But it did. I have been suspicious of golden voices ever since.

Fall Fashions Call For Heavy Wraps

NEW YORK (AP) — You'd think that heating houses was going out of style, the way fashion designers plan to bundle up women this fall.

Mannequins with pretty faces and well-turned legs had little chance to show off these assets, so covered were they as they paraded past fashion writers Thursday during the second day of fall previews called the American Designer Series.

Misses who wore boots at the Anne Fogarty show reappeared at the Pauline Trigere performance in spats to match their fuzzy tweed suits.

Under their cutaway jackets they wore jersey blouses with attached hoods that nearly concealed their faces. Even the sheaths in which they appeared later came with foot-high collars called cachecous, meaning neckhiders, although they hid much of the head as well.

After scurrying in and out in a flurry of styles including raincoats as full as umbrellas and tunic-like escort coats over skinny princess dresses, the models returned coddled in opulent fur.

Little white mink suits, broad-tail evening gowns, chic ermine boleros worn backwards or forwards, and different kinds of scarves, all five yards long, and sometimes studded with jewels, were in the lineup of hot and high-priced fashions for fall.

On the other hand, Lilly Dache calculated to make herself the heroine of husbands by introducing heat-producing furs at bargain prices. She gave prestige to the pauper pelts — particularly squirrel, muskrat and rabbit — with a good dye job and some chic styling.

Insurance Is Provided With New Strapless Garb

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although shoulder straps are missing and hemlines are high on costumes in the new fall collections, the designers expect and are prepared to meet resistance.

"We plan to ship these dresses with extra shoulder straps, just in case," Karen Stark, designer for the Harvey Berin fashion house, told fashion writers Tuesday. The writers are here for the New York Couture Group's semiannual press previews.

As she spoke, several pretty maidens appeared in black or white figure-revealing crepe dinner gowns that clung to one shoulder strap, presumably for security.

Actually, gowns today uphold the bosom snugly enough so that not even one strap is needed to hold them safely in place — and certainly not old-fashioned, flesh-jabbing stays.

There were plenty of interesting and beautiful cases in point, among them shoulderless velvet and satin gowns, the bodices of which were tightly drawn bands of glittering crystals or wispy ostrich plumes.

"The short skirt length is right," said Vincent Monte-Sano, referring to the inch-above-the-knee hems in the coat and suit line created for his fashion house by designer Jacques Tiffeau. "The focus changes as the real fashion interest moves into the jacket itself, particularly the neckline."

Yet Monte-Sano as well as Rudi Gernreich, Ann Fogarty and others who figure prominently in the short, short-skirt story, will lower hems if buyers insist, or make them deep enough to allow women to let them out themselves.

Pleats, A-line cuts or a little gathering at the waist on most of the short skirts in the collection provided plenty of stride room. A few suits with skirts as skinny as they were brief offer the wearer an interesting challenge in sitting down with grace and modesty.

POP-ULAR TREND—"Pop art" has entered the fashion field in New York. The two styles shown carry the label, "Marianne Ohm of Malmo, Sweden." Both fashions are done in cotton jersey knit.

The Westfall Board of Education has employed six teachers and accepted the resignation of three.

Richard Everman, former coach at Monroe High School, has returned to the Westfall District as physical science teacher and junior high coach at Jackson School.

Mary Jane Follrod of Mt. Sterling has been employed as fourth grade teacher at Darby. She attended Ohio University and Ohio State University and has 13 years experience.

Mrs. Lena Mowery of Mt. Sterling has been employed as librarian.

HIRED to teach the first grade at Darby is Mrs. Edith Winans, a graduate of Ohio Northern University. She has six years teaching experience. Mrs. Eloise Cheatham a graduate of Asbury College in Kentucky, will teach vocal music at Darby and Jackson.

Miss Carole Heinzenberger will teach the third grade at Darby.

The resignation of Howard Weaver, guidance counselor, has been accepted by the Westfall Board. He has accepted a similar position at Chillicothe.

Also resigning were Mrs. Nell Ater, third grade instructor at Williamsport and Mrs. Kathleen Bush, fourth grade teacher at Williamsport.

Positions remaining to be filled in the Westfall District are third and fourth grades at Williamsport, second and fourth grades at Monroe and sixth grade at Darby.

JUDSON LANMAN, executive head of the Westfall District, announced the school is still seeking a head football coach with a major in either social studies or industrial arts.

Three bus routes in the district are still open, according to Lanman.

Board members recently toured buildings in the district and made recommendations for repairs and remodeling.

At Williamsport they recommended the boiler and the spouting be repaired. The kitchen and the auditorium will be remodeled there.

At Jackson, the outside trim and several rooms will be painted.

At Monroe, plaster in several rooms will be repaired and painted and the roof will be improved.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thursday, July 14, 1965. A 57-year old Negro and one of the tremendous moving forces in American history, may be on his way to a seat on the Supreme Court.

Many people now probably can't remember ever hearing his name for he did not seek publicity and his most sensational victory was in the 1950s.

But it was Marshall, as a Negro lawyer for Negroes, who argued this century's most historic civil rights cases before the court and won almost all.

Thus he helped lay the ground for the enormous strides American Negroes have made toward equal treatment in the past 11 years, something hard to imagine in 1954.

That year the court ripped down the basic barrier to equal rights by declaring the very principle of segregation unconstitutional and banning it in public schools.

Marshall had a lot of help before he argued that case, from lawyers, sociologists, anthropologists, psychologists.

From 1938 Marshall was chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Slowly through the years Marshall and the NAACP got the court to knock out various forms of segregation.

The great victory didn't come until the 1954 decision. He did important civil rights work afterwards. But in 1961 President John F. Kennedy named him a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Then the mantle of obscurity fell over him, as usual in such a job, since federal judges, except for the Supreme Court justices, are seldom heard of outside their own limited jurisdiction.

Tuesday President Johnson announced he was appointing Marshall solicitor general of the United States, making him No. 3 man in the Justice Department behind the attorney general and the deputy attorney general.

As solicitor general he will be a vivid symbol of Negro progress for now it will be his job to argue the government's cases before the Supreme Court.

When he appeared there in the past it was as a Negro arguing for justice for Negroes. He will go there on many kinds of cases in the future but his voice will be the voice of the U.S. government.

As chief counsel for the NAACP near the end of his career there Marshall got $15,000 a year, a lot less than he might have earned in private practice.

His job on the Court of Appeals was for life at $33,000 a year. The solicitor general's pay will be $28,500, a $4,500 cut, and it's not for life. Since that's a great sacrifice, it raises a question.

Will Johnson after a while, when there's a vacancy, appoint him to the Supreme Court? He wouldn't have to do it in such a roundabout way. Five judges of the U.S. Court of Appeals have been appointed directly to the Supreme Court by presidents since 1943.

On the other hand, in the past 27 years only one man, Stanley F. Reed, was appointed to the Supreme Court from the solicitor general's job.

Senate approval is necessary for a man appointed to the appellate court, the Supreme Court, or to the solicitor general's job. And Southerners in the Senate have slowed down approval for Negroes when Senate approval is needed.

For instance, the Senate took almost a year to okay Marshall's appointment to the appellate court. It may dawdle about doing the same on the new appointment.

Southerners might go all-out to keep a Negro off the Supreme Court, if there were a vacancy now. But as time passes, this

Family Hope Chest Proves Coffin for 2 Small Boys

CLEVELAND (AP)—A deputy coroner warns that the accidental death of two small boys found curled inside a locked family hope chest should be a lesson to parents of little children.

The bodies of the boys, objects of a 24-hour search, were discovered Tuesday by two detectives in an attic of a home where one of the boys lived. They were Donald DiLiberto 6 and the only child of a 36-year-old widow, and Michael Moughan, 4, one of five children.

Deputy Coroner Lester A. Adelson ruled the boys suffocated within minutes after climbing into the chest, which had a snap lock that could be opened only by pressing an outside button.

"They couldn't have survived very long," said Dr. Adelson. "It was a small chest and the air supply probably gave out quickly."

He added: "There's a lesson in this for all of us who have small children. Children are very resourceful, very ingenious. This is a variation of the tragedies involving abandoned iceboxes. It is terrible, terrible. It points out how alert parents must be."

Authorities theorized the kind of opposition can be expected to dwindle.

When there is a Supreme Court opening, Marshall, as a solicitor general, will have become a far more familiar national figure than he could ever have been if he had remained an appellate judge.

Tourist Finds Lost Money; Is Rewarded

MANSFIELD, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Florence Vendur, Kensington, Conn., was riding along U.S. 6 this week when she noticed two boxes falling out of a car ahead of her. She picked up the boxes and found $1,330 in cash and checks.

Police traced the money to the Corey Creek Country Club. Jack Marsh, club secretary treasurer, confirmed that the money fell from his car while he was on his way to a bank. He said it was all there, and gave Mrs. Vendur a substantial reward.

Ohioan Seeks Way To Save Tilting Tower

PISA, Italy (AP)—An Italian-American Real estate developer who has a plan to save Pisa's famous Leaning Tower by freezing its base soil arrived today and immediately climbed to the top.

"It would be a shame indeed if the tower were to fall," said Andrew Vigilante, 75, of Burlington, Ohio.

Vigilante, who owns 19 ice plants, came to Pisa to interest the city in his idea of sinking refrigeration coils into the ground around the tower. This, he claims, will freeze the soil around the foundation and thereby keep the tower from continuing to lean farther each year.

"This project of mine is very economical compared with other suggestions for saving the tower," said Vigilante. He said the job could probably be done for 7 or 8 million lire ($11,200 or $12,800) and would need no more than five workers.

Vigilante drove here from Genoa. He is a Turin native who moved to the United States when he was 24.

The Ohio businessman plans to see Pisa officials during the next few days and talk with Italian public works ministry officials in Rome.

Store's Own Tools Used To Force Safe

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Police are wondering whether a thief who robbed a downtown store of $3,000 in cash and money orders forgot his own tools.

Police said that tools from the store's hardware department were used to force open a safe.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurgood Marshall, a 57-year old Negro and one of the tremendous moving forces in American history, may be on his way to a seat on the Supreme Court.

Many people now probably can't remember ever hearing his name for he did not seek publicity and his most sensational victory was in the 1950s.

But it was Marshall, as a Negro lawyer for Negroes, who argued this century's most historic civil rights cases before the court and won almost all.

Thus he helped lay the ground for the enormous strides American Negroes have made toward equal treatment in the past 11 years, something hard to imagine in 1954.

That year the court ripped down the basic barrier to equal rights by declaring the very principle of segregation unconstitutional and banning it in public schools.

Marshall had a lot of help before he argued that case, from lawyers, sociologists, anthropologists, psychologists.

From 1938 Marshall was chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Slowly through the years Marshall and the NAACP got the court to knock out various forms of segregation.

The great victory didn't come until the 1954 decision. He did important civil rights work afterwards. But in 1961 President John F. Kennedy named him a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Then the mantle of obscurity fell over him, as usual in such a job, since federal judges, except for the Supreme Court justices, are seldom heard of outside their own limited jurisdiction.

Tuesday President Johnson announced he was appointing Marshall solicitor general of the United States, making him No. 3 man in the Justice Department behind the attorney general and the deputy attorney general.

As solicitor general he will be a vivid symbol of Negro progress for now it will be his job to argue the government's cases before the Supreme Court.

When he appeared there in the past it was as a Negro arguing for justice for Negroes. He will go there on many kinds of cases in the future but his voice will be the voice of the U.S. government.

As chief counsel for the NAACP near the end of his career there Marshall got $15,000 a year, a lot less than he might have earned in private practice.

His job on the Court of Appeals was for life at $33,000 a year. The solicitor general's pay will be $28,500, a $4,500 cut, and it's not for life. Since that's a great sacrifice, it raises a question.

Will Johnson after a while, when there's a vacancy, appoint him to the Supreme Court? He wouldn't have to do it in such a roundabout way. Five judges of the U.S. Court of Appeals have been appointed directly to the Supreme Court by presidents since 1943.

On the other hand, in the past 27 years only one man, Stanley F. Reed, was appointed to the Supreme Court from the solicitor general's job.

Senate approval is necessary for a man appointed to the appellate court, the Supreme Court, or to the solicitor general's job. And Southerners in the Senate have slowed down approval for Negroes when Senate approval is needed.

For instance, the Senate took almost a year to okay Marshall's appointment to the appellate court. It may dawdle about doing the same on the new appointment.

Southerners might go all-out to keep a Negro off the Supreme Court, if there were a vacancy now. But as time passes, this kind of opposition can be expected to dwindle.

When there is a Supreme Court opening, Marshall, as a solicitor general, will have become a far more familiar national figure than he could ever have been if he had remained an appellate judge.

Family Hope Chest Proves Coffin for 2 Small Boys

CLEVELAND (AP)—A deputy coroner warns that the accidental death of two small boys found curled inside a locked family hope chest should be a lesson to parents of little children.

The bodies of the boys, objects of a 24-hour search, were discovered Tuesday by two detectives in an attic of a home where one of the boys lived. They were Donald DiLiberto 6 and the only child of a 36-year-old widow, and Michael Moughan, 4, one of five children.

Deputy Coroner Lester A. Adelson ruled the boys suffocated within minutes after climbing into the chest, which had a snap lock that could be opened only by pressing an outside button.

"They couldn't have survived very long," said Dr. Adelson. "It was a small chest and the air supply probably gave out quickly."

He added: "There's a lesson in this for all of us who have small children. Children are very resourceful, very ingenious. This is a variation of the tragedies involving abandoned iceboxes. It is terrible, terrible. It points out how alert parents must be."

Authorities theorized the chest's heavy lid slammed shut on the boys, and the older boy, judging from the position of his body, may have tried to push open the lid. The bodies were lying next to each other, head to foot.

The chest had been in the attic for about a decade. Mrs. Rosemary DiLiberto, Donald's mother, lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Corrado. A saleswoman at a neighborhood store, she was at work when her son disappeared.

A member of the Corrado family said one of the girls had used the cedar chest as a hope chest. The family had searched the house three times but no one had thought of opening the chest, police said.

Trucker Is Awarded $38,473 Judgement

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A trucking firm owner who claimed part of Interstate 90 near here was improperly built has won a $38,473 judgment against J. A. Jones Construction Co., general contractor for the project.

A Lake County Common Pleas Court jury made the award Tuesday to A. H. Miller & Sons, Inc., of Warren as payment Miller said was due on extra sub base material it had to haul. Miller said William Loveland, Inc., of Geneva, another plaintiff in the suit, would receive about $13,000 of the judgment.

Tourist Finds Lost Money; Is Rewarded

MANSFIELD, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Florence Vendur, Kensington, Conn., was riding along U.S. 6 this week when she noticed two boxes falling out of a car ahead of her. She picked up the boxes and found $1,330 in cash and checks.

Police traced the money to the Corey Creek Country Club. Jack Marsh, club secretary treasurer, confirmed that the money fell from his car while he was on his way to a bank. He said it was all there, and gave Mrs. Vendur a substantial reward.

Did you hear what happened to Kay?

For months she's been coming to Kroger to get canned goods and household staples (because prices were low — and she got Top Value Stamps, too!) But always went elsewhere for Meats and Produce. Last week Kay didn't have the time to make the other two stores — bought everything at Kroger. Kay figures she saved $1.18 — got 220 free Top Value Stamps—parked only once. Just one member of the family was unhappy: Terry. He liked all the riding around (but that's because he's a fox terrier!)

Canadian Reporter Analyzes China Visit

EDITOR'S NOTE — Charles Lynch, a Canadian reporter, has just completed a two-month assignment in China in behalf of the Southam Newspapers of Canada. He wrote this analysis after his return home.

By CHARLES LYNCH
OTTAWA (AP) — Next to being a Frenchman, the best thing for the Westerner in Red China to be is a Canadian. French stock is high in Peking. In the wake of French recognition there has been a stream of French visitors to China — diplomats, traders, journalists and flashy ballet dancers wearing distinctly un-Chinese garb.

At the most recent Canton Trade Fair, French buyers were much in evidence. The Chinese began to quote some of their price lists in francs, and to give the French the edge in competitive bids. In dealing with France, the Chinese lose no opportunity to take a whack at the United States — and they follow the same approach in their dealings with Canada, which lacks diplomatic relations with Peking and is perhaps the closest ally of the United States.

The Chinese voice their admiration for Canada at every turn. Yet Canada is guilty of many of the sins laid at Washington's door by Peking, and I pointed this out in conversations with officials.

Peking has been highly critical of United Nations peacekeeping operations, for example, regarding them as a plot to further U.S. interests. Canada has been one of the chief exponents of U.N. peacekeeping. Peking has bitter memories of the Korean War. Here, again, Canada was directly involved, at the side of the United States.

In Viet Nam, it was Canada's voice, as a member of the truce commission, that pointed to North Viet Nam as the aggressor.

It could follow that Peking would detest Canada but everywhere I went I heard expressions of friendship for Canada's government and people.

I tried occasionally to use this mood of hospitality to explain the United States to the Chinese — to point out that there were many good things in America and her people, and that the picture was not so black as the Chinese imagine it to be. This kind of bridge building, I soon found, was not wanted.

The usual Chinese reaction was to say that they understood why a Canadian had to talk this way, because we were victims of American economic aggression and did not dare, as yet, to confront our tormentors. But they added, hopefully, the day of our liberation would come, and the Chinese people would do everything in their power to support their Canadian brothers against the American tyrants.

The overwhelming impressions one brings away from China are not so much of the system as of the people, without whose support the system could not survive.

Their friendliness toward the Western visitor is something that I didn't expect. It meets one on every hand — on the streets of the cities, in the schools and universities, in the factories and on the communes.

Some of my questions could easily have been construed as being hostile, and many times I braced myself for an angry reply. It never came — the toughest questions were met with smiles, and there was always an attempt to make an honest answer. Usually, we agreed to differ on the meaning of honesty.

The people I saw seemed happy and well-fed. Yet the work loads they carry would be intolerable in most other countries.

Yet it does seem to have produced a way of life for the Chinese worker and peasant that is better in the material sense than anything he knew before.

Activities, Coming Events Reviewed at Shrine Meeting

Members of the Pickaway Shrine Club conducted their monthly meeting Monday at Tink's, preceded by a steak dinner with all the trimmings.

Honored guests included W. L. (Pete) DeWeese, director of the Aladdin Drum Corps, and Stuart Spangler, a former Circleville resident who is publicity correspondent for the same organization.

In the way of recent functions and activities, it was reported that Aladdin Drum and Bugle Corps performed at the Ashville July Fourth celebration. Local members of the unit are William Clifton, Robert Liston, Carl Radcliff and Tom Wells.

The pony given away at the Shrine sponsored Horse Show here was ridden in the Ashville parade by Tony Culbertson, son of noble Paul Culbertson. The entry won a second place prize. Three carloads of nobles from Aladdin Temple joined in the parade.

of previous years, are to be donated to the Aladdin Crippled Children's Hospital Fund.

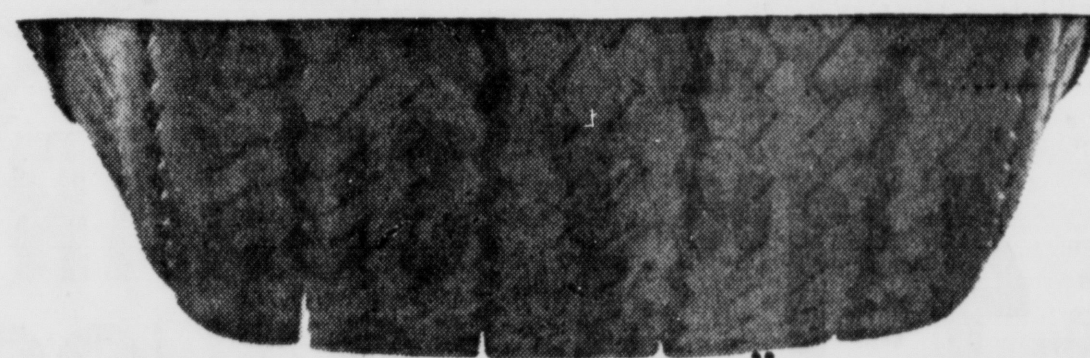

Winner of the "Name the Pony" contest was Brett Starkey, 4, Route 1, Circleville. The winning name submitted was "Misty."

Candidates at the Spring Ceremonial were Francis (Ed) Bowsher, John Kelchner, Donald Kempton, Robert W. Litter and Raymond Maxson.

Several coming events are being viewed with considerable anticipation by Shrine members. Scheduled are: Shrine - Knights of Columbus Stag Golf Tournament, Aug. 11 at the Pickaway Country Club; regular Sept. 13 meeting at Paul Armstrong's cottage at Hargus Lake, followed by a fish fry; a party for the ladies in September at the Elks Lodge, featuring a German band and typical German refreshments.

Assembly Sets Fresh Try on Apportionment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Leaders of the Ohio Legislature have agreed on a final attempt at legislative reapportionment and hinted the general assembly may recess while the matter is resolved by a joint or special committee.

The plan was disclosed Tuesday during a busy legislative day that saw breakthroughs on major education and welfare bills and Senate passage of a $20 million state employee pay raise measure.

House Speaker Roger W. Cloud, R-Logan, and House Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, agreed on a renewed attempt to devise a substitute reapportionment plan for the one defeated by voters in the May primary.

Lancione said he hoped to have a new proposal ready for introduction today. Republicans apparently were ready to pin their hopes on one offered by Cloud several days ago.

Thirteen plans were introduced following defeat of the original plan but hearings bogged down several weeks ago and most lawmakers regarded reapportionment as a dead issue.

Reports circulated that if an agreement could not be hammered out by the end of other legislative activity, expected in a week or so, the legislature might try to come up with a would recess and let the compromise.

Such an effort would be faced with an Aug. 2 deadline because of a requirement for ballot proposals to be offered 90 days prior to a statewide election.

Ohio faces the prospect of federal court intervention unless the legislature and voters act by the end of the year on a plan to shape house districts in line with the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" edict.

The Senate voted Tuesday night to approve the House-passed welfare reorganization bill which sponsors, including Sen. Max Dennis, R-Clinton, said represented many years of study. It includes sweeping proposals to revamp Ohio's welfare programs and procedures but includes no increases in payments to welfare recipients.

Among other things, the bill: —Transfers the state aid for the aged program to county welfare departments.

—Abolishes city welfare authorities.

—Establishes uniform standards for all 88 counties.

An estimated 39,000 state employees would receive boosts in pay of five to fifteen per cent under the House - passed pay raise bill which Democrats tried to amend without success.

Sen. Danny D. Johnson, D-Tuscarawas, offered an amendment that would have boosted the pay of all state employees by an additional five per cent at a cost estimated at $15 million the first year and $25 million the second.

Across the statehouse, the way was cleared for a floor vote Thursday on the long-awaited school foundation bill. It would add an estimated $100 million in state support for schools in the 1965-67 biennium, bringing the total to a record $625 million.

The House passed and sent to the Senate bills to create a 12-member Retirement Commission to oversee investment policies of the state retirement systems and give the workmen's compensation fund the same power on real estate vestments as the retirement systems.

Representatives completed passage on Senate bills authorizing direct payments for nursing home care of aged pensioners, clarifying laws banning solicitation for an act of sexual perversion, and permitting townships to share in the cost of street light improvements.

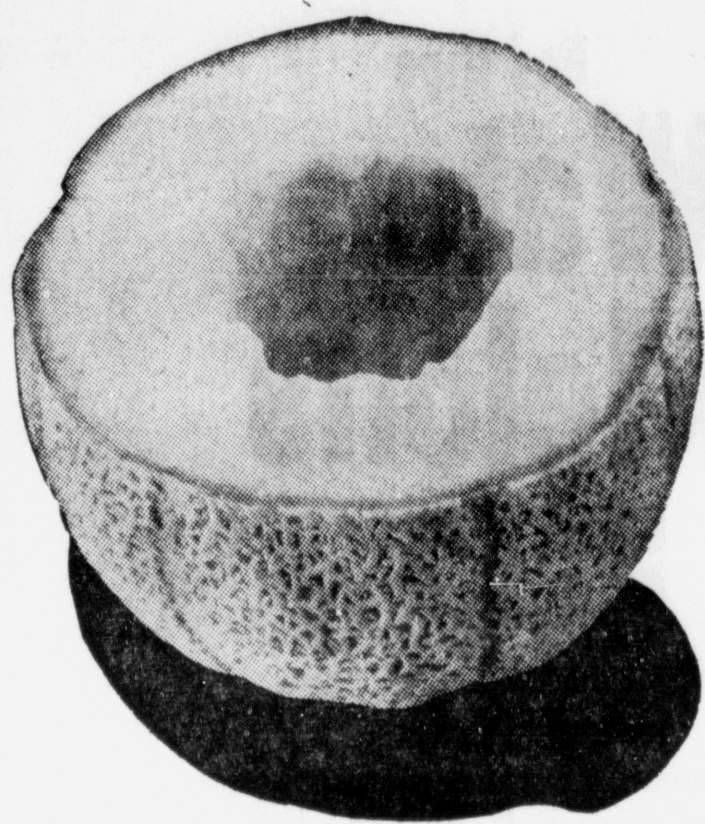

The House approved an immediately effective emergency clause inserted by the Senate in a bill creating single boards of education in Fayette and Morgan Counties to replace all present boards.

Passed by the Senate were bills setting uniform licensing and inspection laws for milk processors, haulers, and dairy facilities, and increasing the penalty for human torture.

A Senate-approved resolution calls for a change in the U.S. Constitution requiring the federal government to return a fixed amount of income tax revenue to the states.

Did you hear what happened to Kay?

For months she's been coming to Kroger to get canned goods and household staples (because prices were low — and she got Top Value Stamps, too!) But always went elsewhere for Meats and Produce. Last week Kay didn't have the time to make the other two stores — bought everything at Kroger. Kay figures she saved $1.18 — got 220 free Top Value Stamps—parked only once. Just one member of the family was unhappy: Terry. He liked all the riding around (but that's because he's a fox terrier!)

Canadian Reporter Analyzes China Visit

EDITOR'S NOTE — Charles Lynch, a Canadian reporter, has just completed a two-month assignment in China in behalf of the Southern Newspapers of Canada. He wrote this analysis after his return home.

By CHARLES LYNCH
 OTTAWA (AP) — Next to being a Frenchman, the best thing for the Westerner in Red China to be is a Canadian. French stock is high in Peking. In the wake of French recognition there has been a stream of French visitors to China — diplomats, traders, journalists and flashy ballet dancers wearing distinctly un-Chinese garb. At the most recent Canton Trade Fair, French buyers were much in evidence. The Chinese began to quote some of their price lists in francs, and to give the French the edge in competitive bids.

In dealing with France, the Chinese lose no opportunity to take a whack at the United States — and they follow the same approach in their dealings with Canada, which lacks diplomatic relations with Peking and is perhaps the closest ally of the United States.

The Chinese voice their admiration for Canada at every turn. Yet Canada is guilty of many of the sins laid at Washington's door by Peking, and I pointed this out in conversations with officials.

Peking has been highly critical of United Nations peacekeeping operations, for example, regarding them as a plot to further U.S. interests. Canada has been one of the chief exponents of U.N. peacekeeping.

Peking has bitter memories of the Korean War. Here, again, Canada was directly involved, at the side of the United States.

In Viet Nam, it was Canada's voice, as a member of the truce commission, that pointed to North Viet Nam as the aggressor.

It could follow that Peking would detest Canada but everywhere I went I heard expressions of friendship for Canada's government and people.

I tried occasionally to use this mood of hospitality to explain the United States to the Chinese — to point out that there were many good things in America and her people, and that the picture was not so black as the Chinese imagine it to be. This kind of bridge building, I soon found, was not wanted.

The usual Chinese reaction was to say that they understood why a Canadian had to talk this way, because we were victims of American economic aggression and did not dare, as yet, to confront our tormentors. But they added, hopefully, the day of our liberation would come, and the Chinese people would do everything in their power to support their Canadian brothers against the American tyrants.

The overwhelming impressions one brings away from China are not so much of the system as of the people, without whose support the system could not survive.

Their friendliness toward the Western visitor is something that I didn't expect. It meets one on every hand — on the streets of the cities, in the schools and universities, in the factories and on the communes.

Some of my questions could easily have been construed as being hostile, and many times I braced myself for an angry reply. It never came — the toughest questions were met with smiles, and there was always an attempt to make an honest answer. Usually, we agreed to differ on the meaning of honesty.

The people I saw seemed happy and well-fed. Yet the work loads they carry would be intolerable in most other countries.

Yet it does seem to have produced a way of life for the Chinese worker and peasant that is better in the material sense than anything he knew before.

Activities, Coming Events Reviewed at Shrine Meeting

Members of the Pickaway Shrine Club conducted their monthly meeting Monday at Tink's, preceded by a steak dinner with all the trimmings.

Honored guests included W. L. (Pete) DeWeese, director of the Aladdin Drum Corps, and Stuart Spangler, a former Circleville resident who is publicity correspondent for the same organization.

In the way of recent functions and activities, it was reported that Aladdin Drum and Bugle Corps performed at the Ashville July Fourth celebration. Local members of the unit are William Clifton, Robert Liston, Carl Radcliff and Tom Wells.

The pony given away at the Shrine sponsored Horse Show here was ridden in the Ashville parade by Tony Culbertson, son of noble Paul Culbertson. The entry won a second place prize. Three carloads of nobles from Aladdin Temple joined in the parade.

ANOTHER successful Horse Show was sponsored by the Pickaway Shriners Saturday at the local Fairgrounds. Receipts, which surpassed those of previous years, are to be donated to the Aladdin Crippled Children's Hospital Fund.

Winner of the "Name the Pony" contest was Brett Starkey, 4, Route 1, Circleville. The winning name submitted was "Misty."

Candidates at the Spring Ceremonial were Francis (Ed) Bowsher, John Kelchner, Donald Kempton, Robert W. Litter and Raymond Maxson.

Several coming events are being viewed with considerable anticipation by Shrine members. Scheduled are: Shrine - Knights of Columbus Stag Golf Tournament, Aug. 11 at the Pickaway Country Club; regular Sept. 13 meeting at Paul Armstrong's cottage at Hargus Lake, followed by a fish fry; a party for the ladies in September at the Elks Lodge, featuring a German band and typical German refreshments.

Assembly Sets Fresh Try on Apportionment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Leaders of the Ohio Legislature have agreed on a final attempt at legislative reapportionment and hinted the general assembly may recess while the matter is resolved by a joint or special committee.

The plan was disclosed Tuesday during a busy legislative day that saw breakthroughs on major education and welfare bills and Senate passage of a $20 million state employee pay raise measure.

House Speaker Roger W. Cloud, R-Logan, and House Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, agreed on a renewed attempt to devise a substitute reapportionment plan for the one defeated by voters in the May primary.

Lancione said he hoped to have one new proposal ready for introduction today. Republicans apparently were ready to pin their hopes on one offered by Cloud several days ago.

Thirteen plans were introduced following defeat of the original plan but hearings bogged down several weeks ago and most lawmakers regarded reapportionment as a dead issue.

Reports circulated that if an agreement could not be hammered out by the end of other legislative activity, expected in a week or so, the legislature might try to come up with a would recess and let the compromise.

Such an effort would be faced with an Aug. 2 deadline because of a requirement for ballot proposals to be offered 90 days prior to a statewide election.

Longer Ohio Race Season Given Nod

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate State Government Committee recommended Tuesday a House-approved bill to increase the number of racing days at Ohio tracks from 44 to 50 a year.

The committee also revised the distribution of the odd-cents breakage on bets at tracks.

Present law splits the $1.9 million a year breakage equally between the state and track operators after the first $2,000.

The House approved a division of 25 per cent to the state, 25 per cent to track operators, and 50 per cent for increased purses. But the Senate committee approved an amendment to allow 40 per cent for purses, 35 per cent to operators and 25 per cent to the state after the first $2,000.

The committee also recommended an increase in the governor's salary from $25,000 to $40,000 a year.

The House-passed bill on salary increases carried a $35,000 annual salary for the governor. Unchanged by the Senate committee was a House-approved increase from $8,000 to $15,000 for the lieutenant-governor and from $15,000 to $25,000 for the secretary of state, treasurer, auditor and attorney general.

Longer Ohio Race Season Given Nod

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate State Government Committee recommended Tuesday a House-approved bill to increase the number of racing days at Ohio tracks from 44 to 50 a year. The committee also revised the distribution of the odd-cents breakage on bets at tracks.

Present law splits the $1.9 million a year breakage equally between the state and track operators after the first $2,000.

The House approved a division of 25 per cent to the state, 25 per cent to track operators, and 50 per cent for increased purses. But the Senate committee approved an amendment to allow 40 per cent for purses, 35 per cent to operators and 25 per cent to the state after the first $2,000.

The committee also recommended an increase in the governor's salary from $25,000 to $40,000 a year.

The House-passed bill on salary increases carried a $35,000 annual salary for the governor. Unchanged by the Senate committee was a House-approved increase from $8,000 to $15,000 for the lieutenant-governor and from $15,000 to $25,000 for the secretary of state, treasurer, auditor and attorney general.

Views on Television — Radio

By JOHN DALY
(For Cynthia Lowry)
NEW YORK (AP) — It may be because summer is upon us but the thought strikes me that so much hot air has been pumped into the question of television in the courtroom, it's time to cool off and bring matters into focus.

Up to now, we have heard an increasingly strident dialogue between newsmen, demanding access for the cameras under the press rights of the First Amendment of the Constitution, and the bench and bar in full battle cry, defending the fair trial provisions of the Fourth Amendment.

The newsmen proclaim the public's right to know. The legal legions damn cameras of all kinds as compromising the dignity of the court, the alertness of witnesses, the integrity of testimony and, worse, say the lawyers, the cameras create confusion in the public about the courts and the law.

Usually, these exchanges are heated up after both news media and the bar have been involved in a notorious criminal case.

Since both sides are so concerned about the public, let us by all means, focus on the good old public. We the people of the United States, as private individuals, have a very good reason to know our courts.

Each of us has a good chance of winding up in court one of these fine days. Last year, some five million of our citizens were arrested on charges ranging from suspicion to homicide. That comes to about five per cent of the adult population. Multiply that by 40 years of eligibility and it suggests the possibility that the average man and woman can, hopefully or otherwise, look forward to one or two arrests in a lifetime.

The average American is scared out of his or her wits on entering a courtroom. Whether as principal or witness or what ever. The surroundings are strange and the ritual and proceedings overpowering and confusing.

I submit, we, the public, should be as much at ease in our courtrooms as we are in our post offices. We can be, once we are familiar with court procedures and rules, what is understood is, usually, not feared.

The best way to understand the courts, it seems to me, is to invite educational television into the courtroom. Working with local bar associations and the courts, a daily hour- or two-hour program, possibly titled "In Court," could run the gamut of court procedures and all types of trials.

Television has actually been transmitted from the Washtenaw County Circuit Court in Ann Arbor, Mich., for some three years, with the approbation of the American Bar Association, no bright lights, no intrusion of dignity, no interference with testimony, no complaints.

The telecast is on closed circuit to students at the University of Michigan Law School.

Why should this education be restricted to a privileged few?

Sertoma Club Board in Fourth Meet

Twelve officers and directors of the Circleville Sertoma Club met Monday evening at the home of Clark Zwyer, 321 S. Pickaway St.

This was the fourth meeting of the board since the club was officially chartered in Circleville on April 3 of this year.

Officers Bud Hritz and Ernest Ankrom presided. Committee reports were given by chairmen Robert Scranton, Larry Lewis and Lewis Cook Jr.

The local Sertoma Club meets Wednesday noon each week for luncheon at the Carriage House.

The first annual Circleville Sertoma family picnic will be held Sunday at Tar Hollow State Park. Families and guests of all members are welcome at the all-day social. Swimming facilities are available.

The next regular meeting will be held the first Monday of August.

Loyalty Oath Is Backed by Elks Chieftain

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The newly elected grand exalted ruler of 1.4 million Elks took a swipe Tuesday at Americans who refuse to take loyalty oaths and promised to curb gambling at Elks lodges everywhere.

It is impossible for me to comprehend how any person, privileged to live under the Stars and Stripes, could hesitate to subscribe to an oath of loyalty to his country," said R. Leonard Bush of Inglewood, Calif.

A burst of applause greeted the 62-year-old retired banker and lumber dealer's remarks at the 101st annual convention here.

Bush called for reform of "a few lodges" that have fallen into disrepute and said, "I intend to put emphasis on lodge activities and not club activities."

"While social or pastime games in the clubrooms are not objectionable, gambling is expressly prohibited by our statutes, and I will not permit to continue if it is called to my attention."

NO NEED to stand by the phone, or miss a call when you're outdoors.

A musical, loud-ringing bell, neatly housed, on the outside of your home or shop, will tell you about the call. Of course, the regular bell rings just the same — and a switch lets you cut out the outdoor bell when you want. This clear-ringing, six-inch bell can be heard over most noises. It will serve you well for only pennies a day. Call our Business Office about putting one in.

NL Wins 5th Straight In All-Star Game Series

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. Paul (AP) — The most frustrated man in baseball today must be Joe Cronin. If he isn't, he should be. Since he took office as president in 1959, his American League has won only two of 11

All-Star Games while tying one. In the same span, the league has lost four of six World Series.

Genial Joe squirmed in the heat Tuesday while the National League once again turned back his American All-Stars 6-5, despite blowing a 5-0 lead.

It marked the fifth straight defeat for the Americans in All-Star and World Series competition.

The National League, which once wanted to call the whole thing off when it found itself trailing 12 games to 4, has taken a lead for the first time since the competition began in 1933.

The victory, their seventh in the last eight decisions, has given the Nationals an over-all 18-17 lead.

The Nationals simply had too many guns Tuesday. They out-hit the Americans 11 to 8 and out-homered them three to two. Then, when they needed stout pitching after the Americans had made up a five-run deficit, they called on World Series hero Bob Gibson. The St. Louis right-hander stopped the Americans in their tracks.

With the Nationals ahead again 6-5, Gibson came in to pitch the last two innings. After giving up a leadoff double to Tony Oliva in the ninth, raising the hopes of the 46,706 American League partisans, Gibson quickly dashed them by setting down the next three hitters, two on strikeouts.

The crusher was his whiffing of Harmon Killebrew, the Minnesota strong boy whose fledgling two-run homer had tied the score 5-5.

As he has done in so many previous All-Star Games, Willie Mays took the spotlight. The San Francisco wonder boy, unimpaired of a painful bruise on his right hip — a souvenir of a home plate collision at Philadelphia Saturday night — opened the game with a home run. It was hit off starter Milt Pappas, Baltimore Oriole right-hander.

Willie didn't get any more hits in his leadoff role, but he walked twice and one of those walks developed into the winning run.

That came about in the seventh inning when he coaxed a pass off Cleveland left-hander Sam McDowell, raced to third on Hank Aaron's single, remained there while Roberto Clemente grounded into a force play and ambled home on Ron Santo's crazily bouncing single over second base.

For two innings, it looked like a breeze for the National League. Taking their cue from Mays, Milwaukee's Joe Torre and Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell followed with homers, each with a man aboard, and before the Americans had their first hit, the Nationals had a 5-0 lead.

In the meantime, the Americans, led by Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, could do little with Juan Marichal, the National League starter. The 26-year-old San Francisco right-hander faced only nine men in his three innings. He gave up a single to Vic Davallito of Cleveland, but the center fielder was erased on a double play.

It was not until the fourth inning, with Jim Maloney of the Cincinnati Reds on the mound, that the Americans finally came to life.

They scored their first run on a walk and singles by Dick McAuliffe of Detroit and Rocky Colavito of Cleveland. Then came the big fifth when the Americans tied the score with four runs.

McAuliffe accounted for the first two with a 400-foot homer over the center field fence. It scored Minnesota's Jimmie Hall, who had walked. Mays ran into the fence in a vain attempt to keep the ball inside the park and jarred his injured right hip.

Brooks Robinson of Baltimore followed McAuliffe's homer with a single and trotted home ahead of Killebrew's 410-foot drive into the pavilion in left center. Mays didn't even bother to turn around to see where that ball was going.

The National used six pitchers to five for the losers. Sandy Koufax, who pitched the sixth inning, was credited with the victory. The Los Angeles Dodgers' southpaw, far from sharp after pitching a complete game Sunday, walked two but worked himself out of trouble.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers and Dick Farrell of the Houston Astros also saw action for the Nationals. After Pappas the Americans used Jim Grant of Minnesota, Pete Richert of Washington, McDowell and Ed Fisher of Chicago. McDowell was charged with the defeat.

Ohio Cage Coach Gets Berth at University

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dale Snider, basketball coach at Sandy Valley High School in Ohio the past six years, has been named assistant cage coach at Washington University here.

Snider will work under head coach Robert Greenwood, who was promoted from assistant last week. Greenwood and Snider were rivals while Greenwood was coaching at Massillon, Ohio.

Snider played his collegiate basketball at Kent State University.

Willie Reed, last season's National Basketball Association rookie of the year, was the first member of the New York Knickerbockers to sign his '65-66 contract. He's a 235-pound center at 6-foot-10.

Printer, Youth Share Honors In Golf Test

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Youthful C. Ross Bartschy Jr., who has tasted victory many times and unheralded Paul Korbass of Shelby, set out today in quest of medalist honors in the 59th annual Ohio Amateur Golf Tournament.

Bartschy, the 17-year-old flash from Upper Arlington, and Korbass, a 30-year-old printing press operator, carved out one-under-par 71s Tuesday to share the lead in the first 18-hole qualifying round of the tournament.

Today's second qualifying test was to set the stage for grueling 36-holes of match play Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Only 64 spots are open to the huge field of 224. Tournament officials predicted a score of 156 would be needed to stay in contention.

Bartschy, who won the state high school title a year ago and led Upper Arlington to the team championship this year, also has annexed the Central Ohio District Amateur and his area's Jaycee junior crown.

Korbass, father of three who has been playing golf since he was 13, is making his third try in the Amateur. He missed the cutoff in his two previous efforts.

Al Hager of Mansfield led a contingent of four golfers who were able to match par on the Westbrook Country Club's 6,414-yard course.

Hager, who is in the insurance business, holds the course record of 63 which he set 24 years ago when only 17.

Also at 72 were Ohio State ace Alex Antonio Jr. of Hubbard, Dr. Mel Woelfling of Toledo and Don Nist of Canton.

Bracketed at 73 were E. Schiltz Jr. of Canton; Rick Jones, Columbus; Jim Hager, Mansfield; Jim Sugar, Columbus; Steve Tipoly, Youngstown, and Tom Whitelaw, Cincinnati.

Four former Amateur titlists, Dan Carmichael of Columbus, Walter Stahl of Cleveland, Tony Blom of Cincinnati and Bob Bourne of Oberlin posted 77s. Former champion Ed Preisler of Cleveland came in with a 74.

Tuesday's action was spiced by a hole-in-one registered by Jerry Dennis of Columbus. Dennis, 33, got his ace on the 152-yard No. 6 with a seven-iron, but finished with an 83.

Tribe Hopes To End Its Run Famine

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians get a chance to break their skein of 30 scoreless innings tonight when they go against the Chicago White Sox in a makeup game that opens a seven-game home stand.

Boston visits the Tribe for a four-game stint and starting Tuesday night Baltimore — only two percentage points behind the second-place Indians — will be in town for a two-game stand.

Ralph Terry takes the mound tonight in hopes of picking up victory No. 10 and breaking the Indian's five-game dry spell.

Terry faces either Jol Horlen or southpaw Gary Peters.

Al Lopez, manager of the American League all stars, says his Chicago team will be back at full strength tonight, with Pete Ward and Bill Skowron out of the hospital and ready to play.

"That's what we need," Lopez said Tuesday, "hitting from those two and John Romano. If we get it we'll be in this to the end."

Rocky Colavito, Vic Davallito and Max Alvis of the Indians will be back in action after Tuesday's 6-5 American League All-Star loss.

Davallito got the first AL hit of the game and Colavito drove in the junior loop's first run.

The Indians' Sam McDowell, the game's losing pitcher, said: "I enjoyed the experience but I hated to get beat by such a cheap hit."

The hit that beat the American League was Ron Santo's hard-bouncing grounder in the seventh at eluded McDowell and second baseman Bobby Richardson.

Browns Seek Waivers On 6 Rookie Players

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns asked waivers Tuesday on six rookies who spent two days at the Browns summer training camp at Hiram, Ohio.

The players are Richard Brindley, defensive halfback; Larry Pugh, linebacker; Stan Morgan, defensive halfback; Ron Rewald, halfback; Paul Rodman, defensive halfback, and George Shaffer, linebacker.

Oxford Talawanda Signs Piqua Coach

PIQUA, Ohio (AP) — Bob Denari, head basketball coach at Piqua Catholic High School the past five years, resigned Tuesday to accept the post of head basketball coach at Oxford Talawanda High School in Butler County, a Class AA school.

Denari, 32, a graduate of Indiana University, took his Piqua team to the Class A state finals in 1964.

"This is the finest thing the USGA has ever done," said Gary Player before he beat Kel Nagle in a playoff for the National Open golf title. He was referring to the shift from 36 holes the final day to four days of 18 holes each.

Two copies of the Tax Budget as tentatively adopted for the Trustees of Scioto Township in Pickaway County, Ohio, are on file in the office of the Clerk of said Scioto Twp. These are for public inspection; and a Public Hearing on said Budget will be held at the Township House in said Commercial Point, Ohio on Friday, the 6 day of August, 1965, at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

Today's second qualifying test was to set the stage for grueling 36-holes of match play Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Only 64 spots are open to the huge field of 224. Tournament officials predicted a score of 156 would be needed to stay in contention.

Bartschy, who won the state high school title a year ago and led Upper Arlington to the team championship this year, also has annexed the Central Ohio District Amateur and his area's Jaycee junior crown.

Korbas, father of three who has been playing golf since he was 13, is making his third try in the Amateur. He missed the cutoff in his two previous efforts.

Al Hager of Mansfield led a contingent of four golfers who were able to match par on the Westbrook Country Club's 6,414-yard course.

Hager, who is in the insurance business, holds the course record of 63 which he set 24 years ago when only 17.

Also at 72 were Ohio State ace Alex Antonio Jr. of Hubbard, Dr. Mel Woelfling of Toledo and Don Nist of Canton.

Bracketed at 73 were E. Schiltz Jr. of Canton; Rick Jones, Columbus; Jim Hager, Mansfield; Jim Sugar, Columbus; Steve Tipoly, Youngstown, and Tom Whitelaw, Cincinnati.

Four former Amateur titlists, Dan Carmichael of Columbus, Walter Stahl of Cleveland, Tony Blom of Cincinnati and Bob Bourne of Oberlin posted 77s. Former champion Ed Preisler of Cleveland came in with a 74.

Tuesday's action was spiced by a hole-in-one registered by Jerry Dennis of Columbus. Dennis, 33, got his ace on the 152-yard No. 6 with a seven-iron, but finished with an 83.

Tribe Hopes To End Its Run Famine

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians got a chance to break their skein of 30 scoreless innings tonight when they got against the Chicago White Sox in a makeup game that opens a seven-game home stand.

Boston visits the Tribe for a four-game stint and starting Tuesday night Baltimore—only two percentage points behind the second-place Indians — will be in town for a two-game stand.

Ralph Terry takes the mound tonight in hopes of picking up victory No. 10 and breaking the Indians' five-game dry spell.

Terry faces either Jol Horlen or southpaw Gary Peters.

Al Lopez, manager of the American League all stars, says his Chicago team will be back at full strength tonight, with Pete Ward and Bill Skowron out of the hospital and ready to play.

"That's what we need," Lopez said Tuesday, "hitting from those two and John Romano. If we get it we'll be in this to the end."

Rocky Colavito, Vic Davalillo and Max Alvis of the Indians will be back in action after Tuesday's 6-5 American League All-Star loss.

Davalillo got the first AL hit of the game and Colavito drove in the junior loop's first run. The Indians' Sam McDowell, the game's losing pitcher, said: "I enjoyed the experience but I hated to get beat by such a cheap hit."

The hit that beat the American League was Ron Santo's hard-bouncing grounder in the seventh at eluded McDowell and second baseman Bobby Richardson.

Browns Seek Waivers On 6 Rookie Players

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns asked waivers Tuesday on six rookies who spent two days at the Browns summer training camp at Hiram, Ohio.

The players are Richard Brindley, defensive halfback; Larry Pugh, linebacker; Stan Morgan, defensive halfback; Ron Rewald, halfback; Paul Rodman, defensive halfback, and George Shaffer, linebacker.

Oxford Talawanda Signs Piqua Coach

PIQUA, Ohio (AP) — Bob Denari, head basketball coach at Piqua Catholic High School the past five years, resigned Tuesday to accept the post of head basketball coach at Oxford Talawanda High School in Butler County, a Class AA school. Denari, 32, a graduate of Indiana University, took his Piqua team to the Class A state finals in 1964.

"This is the finest thing the USGA has ever done," said Gary Player before he beat Kel Nagle in a playoff for the National Open golf title. He was referring to the shift from 36 holes the final day to four days of 18 holes each.

Cigarette Warning Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House sent a bill to the White House Tuesday requiring health warning on cigarette packages after overriding heated arguments that the warning was barely a whisper and worse than no bill at all.

The roll call vote on passage was 283-103.

The bill, a compromise already passed by the Senate, would require after Jan. 1, 1966, this warning on every cigarette container — "CAUTION: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health."

But the crackling debate — which brought Speaker John McCormack down on the floor to defend the leadership's actions — centered on provisions that would:

Bar the Federal Trade Commission from carrying out at least until July 1, 1969, plans to require health warnings in cigarette advertising.

Bar state and local governments from requiring other health warnings.

The bill, declared Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., "ought to be entitled a bill for relief and protection of the cigarette industry. Why are members from the tobacco states for the bill? Because there are hookers in it. And hooker No. 1 is the pre-emption on advertising."

Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., contended that no bill at all would be better because, they argued, the FTC would be allowed to step in and require a health warning in advertising as well as on the package.

News of World in Brief

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency sifted the burned-out wreckage of a private twin engine plane today in an effort to determine the cause of a crash that killed five persons.

The plane crashed late Tuesday afternoon, shortly after takeoff from Wood County Airport northeast of here.

Three of the victims were from Cincinnati, a fourth from Columbus, Ohio, and the fifth, the plane's pilot, from Boone County, Ky.

The victims were identified as James A. Gilkey, 38, board chairman of Gilkey Electric Co.; his brother-in-law, James McAllister, 27, and Albert Damico, 45, all of Cincinnati; William E. Gibbs, 26, Columbus salesman, and Curtis White, pilot of the plane.

The 50-year-old car serves as a playhouse for Marine Sgt. William M. Bill's children.

Last year, Bill found a caboose in the B&O yards at Brunswick, Md., ready for the scrap heap. He persuaded railroad officials to sell it to him for $350 when he spent another $480 having it moved the 25 miles to his backyard.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Gross National Product rose to an adjusted annual rate of $658 billion in the second quarter of this year, up $9 billion from the first three months, the Department of Commerce reported today.

The preliminary estimate showed, however, that the April-June rise was below the $14-billion gain registered in the first quarter. The government attributed that sharp increase to the unusual expansion of automobile production after the strike during the last three months of 1964.

The department said the April-June rise was the 17th successive increase in the Gross National Product since the recession low in the first three months of 1961.

Heavy Beefup Seen For U.S. in Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today new U. S. troops increases in South Viet Nam would make it necessary to consider calling up military reserves, extending tours of duty and enlarging draft calls.

McNamara, Ambassador-designate Henry Cabot Lodge, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, are to leave for Saigon tonight on a weeklong survey which is generally expected to result in a decision to make substantial increases in the U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

"The Viet Cong are continuing to increase in South Viet Nam," McNamara said. "They have forces in the country they have not yet assigned to combat.

"We can expect further increases in Viet Cong operations because of forces not yet assigned to combat."

President Johnson had disclosed Tuesday that calling reserves to active duty and enlarging draft quotas were under consideration but said that no decisions would be made pending the return of the McNamara survey group.

"We will do whatever is necessary," Johnson told a news conference Tuesday in charging increased aggression against South Viet Nam from the Communist north and reaffirming

Ground and Air Warfare Rages

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ground and air war raged in the Da Nang area of central Viet Nam today as more than 150 planes attacked a suspected Viet Cong headquarters and Communist guerrillas over a government outpost, killing 26 defenders.

Between 150 and 200 U.S. and Vietnamese planes blasted a 1.5-square-mile area 40 miles south of Da Nang for three hours in one of the heaviest air assaults in central Viet Nam in months.

U. S. Air Force spokesmen said. The pilots said they could not estimate the damage because 90 per cent of the area was dense jungle.

Twenty-five miles southwest of Da Nang, a guerrilla force of unknown strength overran a government outpost at An Hoa, in Quang Nam Province, killing 26 in the garrison and wounding one, a U.S. Army spokesman said. Details were sketchy. It was not known if any Americans were involved.

One U.S. Marine was killed and another wounded when about 15 Viet Cong attacked a Marine landing party on a beach about 10 miles southeast of Da Nang, military spokesmen said.

The Marines called in tanks and the Viet Cong withdrew, the spokesmen added. There was no report on Communist casualties.

In the air war, the Son

La army depot 125 miles west northwest of Hanoi was attacked again today by 21 U.S. Air Force planes, spokesmen said. It was one of the targets north of Hanoi that have been hit several times in attacks ranging deep into North Viet Nam.

U.S. military spokesmen said the pilots reported they destroyed 20 buildings and damaged six others.

Fourteen South Vietnamese and American planes joined forces today to attack the Minh Son army barracks about 30 miles northwest of Vinh, the spokesmen said. The pilots reported destroying two buildings and damaging two others.

Other damage claimed by raiders on North Viet Nam included:

The Bom XA staging area, 55 miles southwest of Vinh, direct hits on numerous structures in the motor pool and support areas; a radar installation 7 miles north of the border, destroyed; the Ban Ban and Qui Chau ferry installations 110 miles southwest of Hanoi, moderate damage; a military supply depot 30 miles southeast of Vinh, destroyed; approaches to two river crossings in the same area, cratered; the Pom Ron Xa staging area 55 miles southwest of Vinh, heavily cratered.

All planes returned safely, spokesmen said.

U.S. determination to defeat it.

"It is quite possible that new and serious decisions will be necessary in the near future," he said. His news conference statement amounted to an alert to the American people of possible grim news in the offing. It could also be read as one more warning to the Communists that the United States will not see South Viet Nam conquered.

Johnson refused, in response to a specific question, to rule out the possibility of a major land war in Asia because, he said, no one can prophesy what the coming weeks or months will bring.

McNamara and Lodge will confer in Saigon with retiring Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. troop commander, as well as other American officials and Vietnamese leaders.

"When they return next week," Johnson said, "we will give careful consideration to their recommendations, as well as those of Ambassador Taylor and Gen. Westmoreland. We will do what is necessary."

Already, he emphasized, it is evident that "increased aggression from the north may require an increased American response on the ground in South Viet Nam." This same aggression, Johnson said, makes it necessary to continue bombing "selected military targets" in North Viet Nam.

McNamara disclosed that the United States is considering a 60 per cent increase in the number of helicopter companies in the Army. He also said stocks of modern high explosive bombs — nonnuclear bombs — are 500 per cent higher now than in 1961 and will be 1,000 per cent higher by the end of 1966.

McNamara was asked what method the Johnson administration uses in determining force increases in Viet Nam—whether by long-range planning or by periodic discovery of greater need. He said both methods are used.

McNamara did not give any figures on U.S. forces, which are known to have reached a level of about 75,000 now and are expected to go well over 100,000. He did, however, say that the Viet Cong forces—including reinforcements from North Viet Nam — total 65,000.

regular guerrillas and up to 100,000 irregular guerrillas.

McNamara was asked whether the United States has any plans to take the initiative against the Viet Cong. He replied that the primary responsibility for securing the independence of South Viet Nam against Red conquest "must be the responsibility of the South Vietnamese."

"We will do whatever is necessary," Johnson told a news conference Tuesday in charging increased aggression against South Viet Nam from the Communist north and reaffirming

U.S. determination to defeat it.

"It is quite possible that new and serious decisions will be necessary in the near future," he said. His news conference statement amounted to an alert to the American people of possible grim news in the offing. It could also be read as one more warning to the Communists that the United States will not see South Viet Nam conquered.

Johnson refused, in response to a specific question, to rule out the possibility of a major land war in Asia because, he said, no one can prophesy what the coming weeks or months will bring.

McNamara and Lodge will confer in Saigon with retiring Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. troop commander, as well as other American officials and Vietnamese leaders.

"When they return next week," Johnson said, "we will give careful consideration to their recommendations, as well as those of Ambassador Taylor and Gen. Westmoreland. We will do what is necessary."

Already, he emphasized, it is evident that "increased aggression from the north may require an increased American response on the ground in South Viet Nam." This same aggression, Johnson said, makes it necessary to continue bombing "selected military targets" in North Viet Nam.

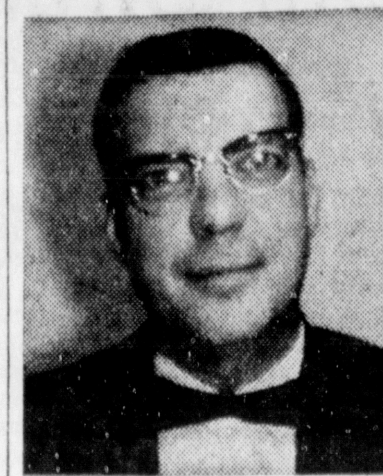

McNamara disclosed that the United States is considering a 60 per cent increase in the number of helicopter companies in the Army. He also said stocks of modern high explosive bombs — nonnuclear bombs — are 500 per cent higher now than in 1961 and will be 1,000 per cent higher by the end of 1966.

McNamara was asked what method the Johnson administration uses in determining force increases in Viet Nam—whether by long-range planning or by periodic discovery of greater need. He said both methods are used.

McNamara did not give any figures on U.S. forces, which are known to have reached a level of about 75,000 now and are expected to go well over 100,000. He did, however, say that the Viet Cong forces — including reinforcements from North Viet Nam — total 65,000.

All planes returned safely, spokesmen said.

FRANKLIN BOYER

JOHN SUAREZ

Two personnel transfers were announced today by officials at Du Pont's Circleville film plant.

Dr. Franklin L. Boyer has been assigned to the company's textile fibers nylon plant in Chattanooga, Tenn. John J. Suarez has been named to an Engineering Department post in Wilmington, Dela.

Dr. Boyer, 270 Edward Road, joined Du Pont at the Circleville installation in 1955 as a research chemist. He later served as laboratory supervisor and quality control supervisor in "Mylar" production.

After earning his bachelor of science degree in chemistry at Western Kentucky State College, Dr. Boyer was awarded his doctorate in chemistry at Vanderbilt University. He spent two years with the U. S. Navy, with service in the Pacific.

DR. BOYER is a member of the First Baptist Church and Sigma Xi and ACF professional organizations. He and his wife, Alma, have three children, Robert, 9, Jennifer, 7, and Benjamin, 1½.

Suarez, a Chillicothe resident, earned his bachelor's degree in civil engineering at New York University. He became associated with Du Pont in 1955 as an engineer in the design section at the company's rayon regular guerrillas and up to 100,000 irregular guerrillas.

McNamara was asked whether the United States has any plans to take the initiative against the Viet Cong. He replied that the primary responsibility for securing the independence of South Viet Nam against Red conquest "must be the responsibility of the South Vietnamese."
